Big 3 To Supply Arms To Mid-East For Self Defence

Arab States And Israel Not To Use Material Against Each Other

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain, the United States and France have agreed to supply arms to the countries of the Middle East.

Under the agreement, announced simultaneously in the three western capitals, arms and war materials may be sent to the Arab States and Israel—but only under assurances that the buyer-state does not intend to undertake any act of aggression against another state.

The agreement was reached during the recent three-power meeting in London. It marks an end to a long-standing difference among these countries over the question of furnishing weapons to military forces recently engaged in bitter fighting over the partition of Palestine.

Although there was no reference in the announcement of the strategic importance of the Middle East in the East-West cold war, officials here were of the opinion the Big Three Foreign Ministers had this strongly in mind.

Their joint statement said the three governments recognized that the Arab states and Israel "need to maintain a certain level of armed forces for the purpose of insuring their internal security, their self-defence and to permit them to play their due part in the defence of the whole area."

Requests by Middle Eastern countries for arms "will be appraised in the light of these principles," the statement added.

ASSURANCE SOUGHT

The announcement said that Middle Eastern countries now receiving arms from the three powers already have given assurances the weapons would not be used for acts of aggression. Similar assurances will be requested of other states in the area before future arms shipments are authorized, it said.

This would indicate that Egypt and Hashemite Jordan, two of the Arab countries which fought against Israel over Palestine partition have pledged themselves to peace. They have been receiving arms aid from Britain.

Fraser River Rise Believed About To Start

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The Fraser River was expected to start climbing today.

Wednesday's reading was 11.1 feet, more than five and a half feet below the mark set at this time in 1948. Temperatures in the 70's and 80's Wednesday melted considerable snow and this was expected to find its way to the Fraser, boosting the run-off.

Two years ago Wednesday was the date on which the disastrous 1948 floods began in the Fraser Valley. The Bonaparte River at Ashcroft overflowed its banks, signalling the beginning of flooding which eventually caused an estimated $20,000,000 damage in the Fraser Valley.

CANADA FACES DECISION ON CHINESE REDS

May Decide Whether To Recognize Regime As Pearson Returns

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada may decide whether to recognize Communist China when External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson returns to Ottawa late next week, informed sources said today.

The minister, who attended North Atlantic Council meetings in London, will bring back word of the latest British government view on the Chinese situation for study by the Canadian government, the sources said.

Pearson met the Foreign Ministers of Britain, France and the United States in London. Their principal discussion was Canada's new informal role in European economic recovery, but the Chinese situation also was reported to have taken a share of their conference time.

The background information which led to Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin's statement Wednesday that Britain would support Communist China's admission to the United Nations, would help Canada make up its mind when to recognize the Communist regime, it was stated.

Observers here believed that Canadian recognition now was a foregone conclusion, with the time of the announcement the chief problem still unanswered.

STATEMENT TO HOUSE
Pearson's last statement on the issue was given to the House External Affairs Committee just before he left for London. He said recognition was "still under consideration."

Well-informed sources said privately that Pearson personally believed the Communist regime should be recognized. He was said to feel the Communists were certainly in control of the country from every standpoint, and formed the only government with any real influence in Chinese affairs.

Ilse Koch Again Facing Trial

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A German court today indicted Ilse Koch for crimes against German and Austrian concentration camp inmates. She will be brought to trial late in July.

Frau Koch, 42, infamous head of the Buchenwald concentration camp, was accused specifically of instigating the murder of 45 prisoners and the attempted murder of 135 others.

WASHINGTON SKEPTICAL

Lie's Report Negotiations To End Cold War Possible Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States State Department officials view with skepticism the report from U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, after a visit to Moscow, that constructive negotiations to end the cold war are possible.

No one in Congress has come forward, either, to say that Lie is correct. Representative Chas. Eaton, Rep. N.J., top Republican on the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee, said that he hopes Lie is, but "nothing has shown any reason to believe Russian promises."

Some U.S. officials seem convinced that at this time and for

Provinces Amending Appeals To Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—A freight-rate increase of 3.4 per cent, amounting to about $13,000,000 a year, was awarded to the railways today by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board, disposing of a rate case started in 1948, boosted to 20 per cent a March 1 award of 16 per cent to the railways.

The net result was an increase of 3.4 per cent on the rates that were put into effect through the March 1 judgment, and which now are effective.

The new award was granted following an application from the railways on the ground that a mistake had been made by the board in its March 1 decision. The railways contended the board had found a "deficiency" in rail operating revenue and failed to cover it adequately in that award.

The increase is effective on 15 days' notice.

Seven provinces — all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland — had appealed the 16-per cent judgment to the cabinet, asking that it be wiped out. Action has been deferred by the cabinet on the appeal until now, because the case was still in the hands of the board.

TO AMEND APPEAL

A spokesman for the provincial group said the appeal to cabinet would be amended to cover today's decision.

In terms of its effect on the general level of freight rates, the 3.4 per cent boost will mean an average hoist of perhaps 1 1/2 per cent in the general level because rate increases are applied only to certain types of traffic.

It will mean that the level of the rates to which the general increases are applicable to, which has gone up 40 per cent as the result of the postwar increases, now will be about 45 per cent above the prewar scale.

The three commissioners who sat on the case were unanimous in finding that the railways were entitled to the full 20 per cent which they asked in 1948.

ERROR ADMITTED

Assistant Chief Commissioner Hugh Wardrope, who wrote the 16 per cent judgment, acknowledged there had been an error in finding a "deficiency" in the 1949 revenue of the Canadian Pacific Railway — the "yardstick" line — and failing to grant an increase large enough to cover it. Commissioner F. M. MacPherson concurred with him.

Commissioner H. B. Chase wrote a separate judgment concurring with the assistant chief that the railways had proven the necessity for the full 20 per cent.

The "error," as claimed by the railways and acknowledged by the board, came about this way:

The board in the 16 per cent judgment found that the C.P.R.'s deficiency for 1949 was $29,871,000. But it awarded an increase which would yield revenue falling short of that figure by $7,609,000.

News Expected Of Wheat Pact By Next Week

LONDON (CP)—An announcement probably will be made early next week on Britain's future wheat purchases from Canada, Trade Minister C. D. Howe of Canada said today.

He said the announcement will be made probably next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Canadian minister, who left later today by air for Canada, thus erased all doubts about the progress of the Anglo-Canadian wheat negotiations.

There had been persistent reports which said the negotiations floundered over the question of price.

"That is not true," Howe said in an interview just before catching his plane at London airport. "I have had a very happy and satisfactory visit in which I dealt with a number of matters."

"I now will report to the cabinet and an announcement probably will be made in Parliament early next week. There will be a simultaneous announcement in London."

Howe declined to specify the "other matters" he discussed here.

U.S. Set Trap For Atom Spy 2 Months Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (Dem.-Conn.) said today the Federal Bureau of Investigation set its trap at least two months ago for Philadelphia bio-chemist Harry Gold, who is being held on charges of aiding atomic spy Klaus Fuchs.

This disclosure by McMahon, chairman of the Senate House of Representatives atomic energy committee, came on the heels of information that the F.B.I. sifted through a list of 1,200 suspects before it finally ran Gold down.

The 39-year-old Philadelphian was arrested Tuesday night and accused of receiving secret information about United States atomic developments from Fuchs and passing it on to the Russians.

Flood Threat Now Turns To Fort Frances

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (BUP)—This border city of 6,000 inherited Winnipeg's east-off flood troubles today.

City-wide plans got underway to combat what according to Fire Chief Robert Reidman showed signs of becoming the worst flood locally in 34 years.

Anxious that what happened to flooded Winnipeg, wouldn't happen here, residents started bricking up basement windows. Radio station CKFT raised its transmitter building three feet, and civic officials looked for as many flat-bottomed boats as they could find after the run-off from what was described as the greatest snowfall since 1900 hit town.

The last time a major flood bothered this logging community was in 1916 when it was surrounded by water from the swelled Rainy River and Lake.

OPEN DAM GATES

Reidman said that this year the situation looked as if it would become worse. Engineers said that although all 14 escape gates had been opened at Kooching Dam to ease pressure on dikes, the lake and river levels were rising an average of 1.8 inches a day.

Britain Gives $310,000 For Manitoba Flood Aid

LONDON (CP)—Britain today earmarked $310,000 ($310,000) for disaster relief in Manitoba and Quebec, and said emergency supplies will start flowing across the Atlantic tomorrow.

As a first installment a British stratoscruiser will fly to Winnipeg bearing eight tons of sheets, pillows, blankets, towels, toys and medical supplies.

Further supplies will be sent by ship early in June. Some of these will be allotted to the fire-devastated Quebec communities of Rimouski and Cabana.

These decisions were announced in the House of Commons today by Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth Relations Secretary. He told a press conference earlier that the British government had consulted with Canadian representatives here in an effort to make sure the relief shipments include "just the things Canadians want."

He told correspondents that Canada had suffered "very grave" disasters. But British aid was not intended to suggest the Dominion was "reeling" nor was it a "hit-for-it" gesture in response to Canadian assistance in similar circumstances.

"In the Prime Minister's phrase, we're just doing our best to fill in the gaps," Gordon-Walker said.

He expects to be at Heathrow airport tomorrow to watch the departure of the stratoscruiser, which is expected to reach Winnipeg early Saturday.

In addition to government assistance, the Commonwealth relations office will handle any public funds raised spontaneously by British communities.

Gen. Clay Faces German Hecklers

NEW YORK (AP)—Heckled and picketed, Gen. Lucius D. Clay cast aside a prepared speech at an anti-Communist "Hold Berlin" rally Wednesday night and issued a rallying call to the people of the German capital.

Chinese Reds' Navy In Fight Off Hongkong

HONGKONG (UP)—The infant Chinese Communist navy battled with Nationalist gunboats at dawn today in an attack on a Nationalist base 30 miles southwest of Hongkong.

The Red navy vessels—their number was not known—withdraw after a two-round gun duel. Fire broke out on a Nationalist gunboat and on another vessel believed to be a Communist warship.

The Red ships sailed in with a flotilla of troop-carrying junks in another attempt to capture the Wanshan Islands, where the Nationalists have a base for their blockade of Canton. No Communist landings were reported.

The type of vessels which engaged the Nationalists was not known.

Report Made On Loggers' Wage Demands

Details Withheld For Notification Of Disputants

Report of the conciliation board which sat earlier in the week to consider wage demands by the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A., C.C.L.) of west coast lumber operators was handed down today.

Terms and recommendations were not immediately disclosed. Speculation is, however, that the board has unanimously suggested the lumbermen be given an hourly wage increase somewhere between the 7½ cents an hour they were offered last week and the 17 cents an hour originally sought by the union.

The B.C. Labor Relations Board will not make public the reports until both sides directly concerned have been notified. I.W.A. officials in Victoria, who were believed to have received their copy of the award this afternoon, would not comment.

D. R. Blair, Vancouver, was chairman of the board. Meredith McFarlane, president of the Vancouver Bar Association, was a nominee of the employers, and Dr. E. Forsey, Ottawa, was union nominee.

Their ruling affects eight locals of the I.W.A. and 177 employees.

Strike Vote At Windsor By Chrysler Men

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The United Auto Workers of America (U.A.W.) announced today the union will unanimously recommend strike action in the vast Chrysler plant at Sunday's membership meeting in Windsor.

Committee members and stewards decided on their stand at a special session late Wednesday, it was revealed. Should the strike go through, it will affect 4,000 U.A.W. workers in the Chrysler plants in Windsor.

Pat Rooney, U.A.W. international representative, said the union's Chrysler unit negotiating committee would meet the management late today to discuss union demands for pensions, social security, and contract improvements.

"Chrysler has proved to be the most stubborn firm our union has yet had to deal with," said Rooney.

A member of the U.A.W.'s negotiating team said the agreement between the union and General Motors, concluded earlier this week, was the "last straw" as far as Chrysler workers were concerned.

FIREWORKS-DAZZLED MOB AGAIN CLOGS STREETS

The corner of Simcoe and St. Andrews Streets following May 24 fireworks display in Beacon Hill Park annually provides some of the best entertainment of the holiday. It did not fail this year. Autos converged from all directions. Well-meaning residents risked life and limb to step off the curb. "Sir, that is a dead end, a blind spot... you cannot get through." All to no avail. The hapless citizens were all but run down. "Some enthusiastic jokers even started passing and horn-honking. They couldn't get to the wall fast enough. It was a quick trip in, but a mighty slow return. "I've lived here 10 years and it has happened every year—they'll never listen to you up at the corner. They have to see for themselves," was one resident's weary comment, as he viewed the endless stream of cars.

BANDIT WOUNDS MOUNTIE, BANKER

Lone Thug Escapes After Failing To Rob Bank Of Toronto In Downtown Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—A bank manager and a police officer were shot and wounded today in the unsuccessful attempt of a lone bandit to hold up the Bank of Toronto branch of downtown Montreal.

Bank manager Stanley Bickley and Sgt. A. Gamman of the R.C.M.P. were wounded in the exchange of gunfire with the bandit.

The bandit is believed to have escaped and so far as known was not hit by shots fired at him.

Bickley is said to have suffered only a flesh wound but Gamman was said to be in serious condition. Both were taken to hospital.

Gamman is stationed at the Bank of Canada, a short distance from the Bank of Toronto branch.

The bandit entered the bank during the noon hour, walked up to a wicket and said something to a girl teller. The girl screamed and fell to the floor.

The bandit apparently became alarmed and tried to run from the bank as manager Bickley rushed from his office. Bickley was shot and fell to the floor.

About the same time Gamman, who is believed to have heard the shooting while passing by, ran inside and was also shot.

The same bank was held up several months ago when $3,200 was taken.

Allies Taking Steps To Keep Berlin Peace

BERLIN (UP)—U.S. authorities closed the Berlin-West German superhighway to night-time American traffic tonight to avoid incidents with Communist youths heading for a big week-end rally in eastern Berlin.

U.S. military police were ordered to halt all American vehicles on the highway between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. until the Soviets and the 10-mile detour off the highway they imposed earlier today.

British and French authorities closed the highway to all members of their armed forces. They said civilians would be permitted to use the highway, but would be advised not to do so.

Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. commandant in Berlin, said the Americans decided to ban night-time traffic because travelers might wander off the detour into the Soviet zone and be arrested.

Eastern Berlin reinforced its police force with 20,000 Soviet zone people's police in preparation for the rally, which is expected to draw 500,000 Communist youths.

$129,000,000 Cut In British Share Of E.C.A. Mooted

WASHINGTON (AP)—E.C.A. Chief Paul Hoffman disclosed today that a $129,000,000 cut may be made in aid to Britain.

Hoffman told the Senate appropriations committee an "up-to-date review" of the E.C.A. program for Britain "indicates that due to the greater than expected improvement in the (British) position since devaluation, this allocation can be reduced by $129,000,000."

Britain originally had been slated to receive a total of $687,000,000 in the coming year's E.C.A. program.

Hoffman also disclosed he had saved $277,000,000 of this year's European recovery fund. Hoffman told the committee he would need less in new money for the coming year because E.C.A. had originally estimated this year's savings at $149,100,000, but it now appeared the savings would total $277,000,000.

Quebec Forest Fires Feared; Travel Banned

TORONTO (CP)—A ban on forest travel applying to practically all of Quebec province was ordered following outbreak of a number of brush and forest fires.

Quebec forestry officials said the provincial government is taking no chances with bush fires though the situation at present is not alarming.

Continued warm weather today added to difficulties of crews fighting bush fires in eastern Canada.

Outbreaks, none covering more than a few square miles, have been reported this week in sections of northern Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, where spring sunshine has made the brushland tinder-dry. Forest travel is temporarily banned in some sections of northern Ontario and eastern Quebec.

In Ontario, a helicopter was sent to help cope with a blaze near Sudbury. Altogether, 65 fires are being fought in the province, 36 in Timiskaming and Sudbury districts of northern Ontario.

A blaze 15 miles from Bathurst, N.B., destroyed five homes Wednesday and another fire three miles from Bathurst was speedily checked. Nova Scotia had eight small fires.

Amendment To Appeal On Increase

SEE STORY PAGE THREE

The 3.4 per cent increase in freight rates announced from Ottawa will be opposed by British Columbia.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said an appeal to the federal cabinet on a 16 per cent increase granted the railways by the Board of Transport Commissioners two months ago will be amended to include the additional rise.

Meanwhile the frowns on local industrialists' faces at the 3.4 per cent announcement was more pronounced in some cases than others.

Generally speaking lumbermen are not as unhappy as the heads of other leading industries.

The lumbermen stay away from railway haulage as much as possible, shipping by water and they feel that as long as the off-shore business holds they have little to worry about.

"How long this will be I don't know, but if market conditions subside or soften the higher freight rates might tend to force earlier closure of some mills," one operator commented.

In other industries—roofing, paper—the extra increase in rail rates brought much blacker looks.

It was indicated by some the additional expense would have to be met by the consumer.

Operator of a large plant was surprised to hear the 3.4 per cent increase had been granted. "I was certain the railways wouldn't get it," he stated.

Rumor Foulkes To Get Job As Chief Mountie

By GORDON E. LEIGHTON
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—No one in authority will confirm or deny it of course, at this stage, but there are strong beliefs held here that the next commissioner of R.C.M.P. will be the present Chief of the General Staff.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes has held the appointment of C.G.S. since 1945. Commissioner S. T. Wood has headed the R.C.M.P. since 1928 or for 22 years. Normally the appointment of Chief of the General Staff is made for a period of four years but there is no bar to renewal for any term the government might declare.

Commissioner Wood has passed the age of 60 having been almost born in the R.C.A.F. of which his father also was commissioner.

The mere possibility of Gen. Foulkes' transfer brings renewed discussion of claimants to the C.G.S. appointment. Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds now presiding over the Royal Military Staff College at Kingston is most prominently mentioned in such informal debates, both because of his high rank and his combat service.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

CALIFORNIA TRIP

I HAVE JUST returned from a flying trip to Santa Barbara where I went to fulfill a long-standing engagement to speak at the convention of the California State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. And the trip, in addition to giving me the opportunity of meeting about 900 dynamic members of that international organization, gave me an opportunity to see something of a part of California that was new to me.

The flight itself was an unforgettable experience. From Seattle to Portland and half-way across the Oregon state, we flew above clouds—a wonderful mass of cumuli that stretched for miles and miles, like a great snowfield, punctuated by odd cloud formations which suggested that some giant hand had been building snow-men out of the filmy stuff.

SNOWY PEAKS

THE clouds looked almost palpable until we came to Mount Hood, which reared its lovely, snowy crest high above the coast range, peeping up above the clouds over which we floated and, suddenly, the clouds parted and began to dissolve and northern California came into view far below us.

I shall never forget my first sight of Mount Shasta from the air. I had seen it several times from ground-level, but it is only when you get up to 16,000 feet that you realize the beauty and symmetry of this great peak which dominates the California landscape at this point.

LOVELY CRATER LAKE

ON THE return trip, our plane circled Mount Shasta so closely that it almost seemed as if we could reach out and touch its pristine beauty. Just beyond we got a breath-taking close-up of Crater Lake, that serene body of water high up in the clouds. So high, it was hard to realize that its shoreline is 33 miles long, and its mirror-like, blue placidity made it even harder to believe that it is the deepest lake in the United States.

Farther south, we left the tree-clad heights and came into the area of patches of desert and arid-looking hills, interspersed with the rich green of fertile valley farms, showing what irrigation will do. And great patches of magenta-pink gave us our first introduction to the ice-plant, that prolific weed-like succulent which clothes the hills and roadside with a many-colored carpet.

BLUE AND GOLD

THEN we came nearer to the shore-line, as we approached San Francisco and the plane swung out wide over the bay, its waters glinting like jewels in the sunshine, the famous bridge looking like a filigreed collarette as seen from the air. South from San Francisco we hugged the shore-line, flying most of the time at about 6,000 feet above the sparkling white-capped waters of the blue Pacific.

And it is only from the air that you realize the aptness of that description, for the intense blueness of the water was emphasized by the white fringe of the surf as it endlessly rolled over the seemingly endless miles of golden sands that rim the state.

ORANGES AND LEMONS

SO STARTLINGLY clear is the water that one could almost see the fish swimming below, while the occasional kelp or other weed was etched with the stark clarity of a Chinese etching in the translucent depths. The yellow of the sandy beaches adds to the color effect—and the miles and miles of them, with never a rock to mar them, made me wish I could have brought back those sands bodily to this coast.

And then, as we approached our destination, to the blue and yellow of the sand and water were added the green, yellow and orange of the orange and lemon groves that dot the hillsides in all directions, reminding me of the exotic character of Southern California's lush growth. But more tomorrow.

LED DESERT WARRIORS

Graziani's Conqueror Dies In Nursing Home

LONDON (AP)—Field Marshal Earl Wavell, desert warrior who won the first Allied land victories in the Second World War, died Wednesday in a nursing home here.

The one-eyed British soldier who smashed Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's Italian Army in North Africa in the dark days of 1940 and 1941 and won grudging German admiration, underwent a severe abdominal operation on his 67th birthday, May 5. He long had suffered from jaundice.

Recalled by the Labor government from his post as Viceroy of India early in 1947 because he disagreed with the policy of giving India immediate independence, Lord Wavell had spent the last years of his life indulging a taste for music and poetry.

He edited an anthology of verse, "Other Men's Flowers," which was generally acclaimed. Politically, he fought in the House of Lords for improved pensions for British veterans of the Indian service.

"DESERT RATS"

As Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell he commanded the British and Australian army of "desert rats" in North Africa when Allied fortunes elsewhere were at their lowest ebb after the fall of France, the Balkans and Greece.

Though erect and spruce and shielding his empty eye socket behind a gleaming monocle, the commander believed too much "spit and polish" was bad for an army. His soldiers called him "Archie" behind his back. He also believed that bold stratagems and gambles were the mark of the successful general.

With these as his precepts, he gained sudden fame with his amazing counter-offensive in 1940-41 which drove Italian troops 500 miles across the barren desert in 60 days.

The drive was not halted until it had wrested most of Cyrenaica from the Italians and taken 140,000 Italian prisoners.

Winston Churchill acclaimed the general a "master of war." German Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel was reported to have acknowledged that the British general was "very, very good."

In July, 1941, he was sent to India as commander-in-chief of British forces, and it was left to Field Marshal Lord Montgomery to win the eventual victory in Libya in 1942.

After Pearl Harbor, Lord Wavell was named supreme commander of all Allied forces in the southwest Pacific with headquarters in the Netherlands East Indies.

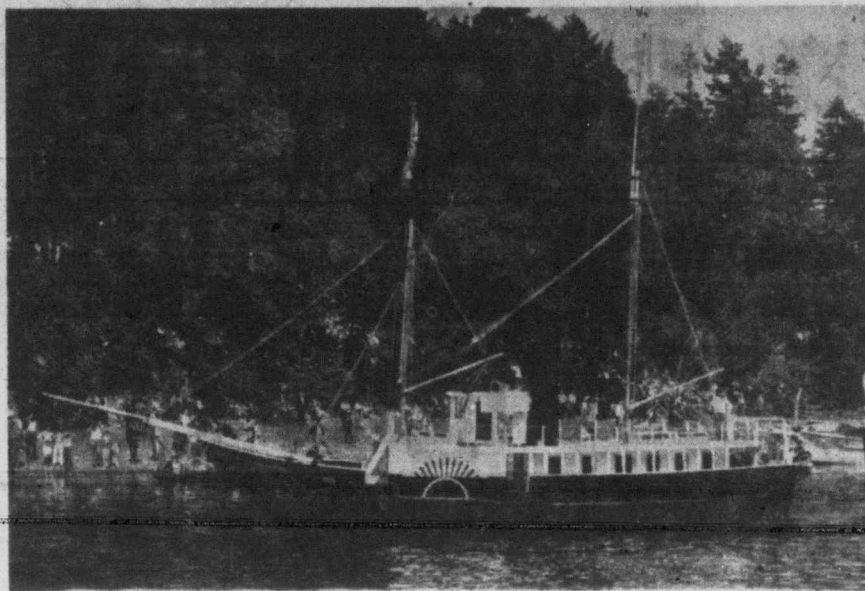

SERVED AS VICEROY

Allied defeats in that theatre caused him to be returned to India, and in 1943 he was named Viceroy, with the task of keeping India politically solid for the Allies. His services won for him the Legion of Merit from President Truman.

Lord Wavell soldiered in far-away places from the time he was 18, joining the famous Scottish Black Watch regiment in the final phases of the Boer War in South Africa in 1901.

He was a veteran of skirmishing with tribesmen on India's northwest frontier in 1908.

In the early years of the First World War he was a liaison officer with the Russian army in the Caucasus. He lost his eye, however, in fighting on the western front in the Battle of Ypres.

Ss. Beaver Model Prize Craft Among Boat Entries

This scale model of Hudson's Bay Co.'s Beaver, one of ships which brought pioneers to Fort Victoria more than 100 years ago, was awarded first prize in

Gorge regatta Wednesday. Model was constructed and entered by men of the R.C.N. cruiser Ontario.—(R.C.N. Photo)

Navy Plays Major Part In Events For Regatta

Colorful Display On Gorge Successful Despite Absence Of Indian War Canoes

The famous May 24 Gorge regatta took on a new look this year without even one Indian war canoe in sight, but the event was as colorful as in the past, nevertheless, thanks to the efforts of the Royal Canadian Navy.

The navy took over the task of handling the popular water spectacle, providing practically all entries in the varied program and throwing in plenty of extra entertainment for the thousands of Victorians who lined both shores of the salt water arm in perfect weather.

Highlight of the afternoon was the sail-past by decorated boats.

LINK WITH THE PAST

A link with the past was the amazingly accurate model of the Hudson's Bay Company's famous steamer Beaver entered by H.M.C.S. Ontario.

The craft, complete with side-wheels, was picked as best in the fancy boat parade by the Salem, Ore., Cherrians, who acted as judges.

Second prize went to the Royal Barge which brought May Queen Beverly Hearn up the Gorge. "Court musicians," members of the navy band, were aboard the royal blue and red craft as it moved through the water propelled by eight Naden oarsmen.

Comic boat first prize winner was a clever "island" complete with palm tree, hula girl and "shipwrecked" sailor from H.M.C.S. Rockcliffe which entered the craft. Runner-up in the humorous class was the H.M.C.S. Unbearable, a slightly shop-worn boat with fittings and crew to match.

Final event was an all-comers event in which naval whalers were propelled by everything and anything. First was H.M.C.S. Ontario, with H.M.C.S. Athabaskan runner-up.

LOG BIRLING

Canoe and whaler races, a log birling competition and a canoe-tipping contest were other features.

Naval whaler race between Victoria and Vancouver reserve divisions was won by H.M.C.S. Discovery from the mainland.

Five men of the cruiser Ontario came from behind to defeat entrants from the destroyer

THREE-YEAR-OLD FIGURES

Oak Bay Complaint On Cost Of Schools Draws Rebuke

Figures which were three years old were quoted by Oak Bay Council in its pamphlet protesting higher school costs in that municipality. Austin I. Curtis, chairman of the finance committee of the Greater Victoria School board said in an address to the Kiwanis Club.

The figures pointed out in this pamphlet described Oak Bay as contributing $197 per pupil and the B.C. average as $90 per pupil. This latter figure was three years old, Mr. Curtis said.

"In my own personal opinion, Oak Bay is being discriminated against in school costs. Oak Bay is one of two municipalities in the province facing this situation. I don't know what can be done about it, but I believe a plan is being worked out," the speaker said.

POLICE AID 7 SWOONERS

City police were called upon Wednesday to revive seven persons who collapsed along the route of the May 24 parade and to return to their homes four children who were lost.

St. John Ambulance Brigade men also attended a number of individuals who fainted during the day.

The South Vancouver Island Rangers' ambulance, which took part in the parade, picked up three persons who collapsed while watching the parade.

City Orders New By-Law For Closing

A new by-law for the closing of automobile garages, repair shops and service stations in the city at certain specified hours will be drafted by A. J. Patton, city solicitor, on instructions of City Council.

"There is a by-law in existence at the present time, but one clause, the operative clause, has been declared by the courts to be ultra vires, leaving the by-law as it now exists, inoperative," Mr. Patton wrote council.

The Garage and Motor Trades Association should petition council to pass a new by-law and by that by-law a further petition should be submitted asking that the former by-law be repudiated, Mr. Patton said.

Under new legislation a city official is to be appointed who will have disciplinary powers as to what accommodation shall be made for the public.

Funeral Friday Of Thomas Henry Fletcher

Funeral services will be held Friday for Thomas Henry Fletcher, 470 Dupplin Street, a resident of this city for 23 years, who died Monday. Services will be in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 3:15.

Mr. Fletcher, 53, was born in Manchester, Eng. He was employed by Canadian Customs.

He was a member of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, and also secretary to the League of Roses (Lancashire and Yorkshire Society).

Few Injured In Holiday Accidents

Passengers Escape Serious Hurts In Many Collisions

Despite heavy concentrations of traffic there were comparatively few accidents on May 24.

City police had four to deal with; Esquimalt and Saanich departments, one each, and Oak Bay, none.

In the city at 4:43 p.m. two men and three women suffered minor injuries in a collision at Quadra and Fort which saw one recent-model car knocked over on its side.

According to police a Manitoba-licensed car driven by Nina Roy, 159 Cook Street, was overturned in collision with a car driven by Cecil Fletcher, 956 Fairfield Road.

The Roy car was said to be going south on Quadra and the Fletcher vehicle, west on Fort at the time of the impact. There are stop signs on Quadra at the intersection.

Damage to the cars was estimated to be $550. Police reported about $300 damage to both sides of the Roy car and $250 damage to the other.

WOMEN INJURED

Earlier in the day there were three collisions involving cars traveling bumper-to-bumper in lines of traffic.

At 9:35, a car driven by Ian Grimsmon, Sidney, struck the rear of a car driven by Hector Broomfield, Old East Saanich Road. Both cars were traveling south on Quadra. The accident occurred near Central Avenue.

Grimsmmon told police he was called upon to stop suddenly when the cars in front stopped.

Mrs. Edith Rogers, Alderley Road, a passenger in one of the cars, suffered a jar to the back of her neck. Damage was set at about $25.

REAR COLLISIONS

At 9:50, in a similar accident, a car driven by Jules Armand Laverture, Sooke, ran into the rear of a car driven by Isabel Shellabeer, 915 Island Highway. Both cars were going east on Gorge Road. About $75 damage was done to the Laverture car.

There was a repeat performance at 12:05 p.m. on Quadra Street when a car traveling north driven by Gordon Maycock, 929 Darwin Road, collided with the rear of a car going in the same direction driven by Anita May Hossi, 3308 Quadra.

Mrs. Ivy Stone, 3673 Saanich Road, a passenger in one of the cars, suffered a cut to her forehead.

In Esquimalt, four men were taken to hospital at 9:30 for treatment to injuries following an accident involving a taxi and a convertible coupe on Esquimalt Road at the Dunsmuir Street intersection.

Involved were David Leese, 979 Dunsmuir Street, driver of the taxi; Clifford Jackson of Edmonton, his passenger; Robert McNelly, 595 Gorge Road, driver of the car, and Melville Moore, 424 Parry Street.

DAMAGE BEAVY

Leese, who took the brunt of the shock, suffered injuries to his shoulder. He was reported to be in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Comox Spit To House Doukhobor Prisoners

Storm of protest by residents followed announcement that government would imprison Doukhobors on Comox spit, above, wartime combined operations training ground. Objections stem from fact there is insufficient water. Supply was only made available to sailors during war by drastic cutting of domestic consumption by citizens, but growth of district is said to make this impossible now.

WASHINGTON SKEPTICAL

Lie's Report Negotiations To End Cold War Possible Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States State Department officials view with skepticism the report from U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, after a visit to Moscow, that constructive negotiations to end the cold war are possible.

No one in Congress has come forward, either, to say that Lie is correct. Representative Chas. Eaton, Rep., N.J., top Republican on the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee, said that he hopes Lie is, but "nothing has shown any reason to believe Russian promises."

Some U.S. officials seem convinced that at this time and for the foreseeable future neither side in the cold war is prepared to make the concrete concessions or compromises which in their view might lead to a true east-west settlement.

Moreover, they believe that, barring a major change on one side or the other, a top level international meeting would bring little if any relief from the present tensions of political conflict.

Little is known, even in inner government circles here, of Prime Minister Stalin's reaction to Lie's peace-making proposals when the two met 10 days ago. According to diplomatic reports, as yet officially unconfirmed to the U.S.

government by Lie, Stalin was non-committal, although as Lie has indicated publicly, he did not close any doors on future developments.

Lie, who left Britain by plane Wednesday after issuing a statement, is due in Washington next week to see President Truman and State Secretary Acheson. He is expected then to give them an account of his talks with Stalin and with British and French leaders.

In his statement Lie said: "I return to the headquarters of the United Nations with the belief that the possibility of constructive negotiation exists."

New Freight Rate Boost Announced

Board's Decision Adds $13,000,000 Yearly To Amount Public Pays

OTTAWA (CP)—A freight-rate increase of 3.4 per cent, amounting to about $13,000,000 a year, was awarded to the railways today by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board, disposing of a rate case started in 1948, boosted to 20 per cent a March 1 award of 16 per cent to the railways.

The net result was an increase of 3.4 per cent on the rates that were put into effect through the March 1 judgment, and which now are effective.

The new award was granted following an application from the railways on the ground that a mistake had been made by the board in its March 1 decision. The railways contended the board had found a "deficiency" in rail operating revenue and failed to cover it adequately in that award.

The increase is effective on 15 days' notice.

Seven provinces — all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland — had appealed the 16-per-cent judgment to the cabinet, asking that it be wiped out. Action has been deferred by the cabinet on the appeal until now, because the case was still in the hands of the board.

A spokesman for the provincial group said the appeal to cabinet would be amended to cover today's decision.

In terms of its effect on the general level of freight rates, the 3.4 per cent boost will mean an average hoist of perhaps 1 1/2 per cent in the general level because rate increases are applied only to certain types of traffic.

It will mean that the level of the rates to which the general increases are applicable to, which has gone up 40 per cent as the result of the postwar increases, now will be about 45 per cent above the prewar scale.

The three commissioners who sat on the case were unanimous in finding that the railways were entitled to the full 20 per cent which they asked in 1948.

ERROR ADMITTED

Assistant Chief Commissioner Hugh Wardrop, who wrote the 16 per cent judgment, acknowledged there had been an error in finding a "deficiency" in the 1949 revenue of the Canadian Pacific Railway — the "yardstick" line — and failing to grant an increase large enough to cover it. Commissioner F. M. MacPherson concurred with him.

Commissioner H. B. Chase wrote a separate judgment concurring with the assistant chief that the railways had proven the necessity for the full 20 per cent.

The "error," as claimed by the railways and acknowledged by the board, came about this way:

The board in the 16 per cent judgment found that the C.P.R.'s deficiency for 1949 was $29,971,000. But it awarded an increase which would yield revenue falling short of that figure by $7,609,000.

CANADA FACES DECISION ON CHINESE REDS

May Decide Whether To Recognize Regime As Pearson Returns

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada may decide whether to recognize Communist China when External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson returns to Ottawa late next week, informed sources said today.

The minister, who attended North Atlantic Council meetings in London, will bring back word of the latest British government view on the Chinese situation for study by the Canadian government, the sources said.

Pearson met the Foreign Ministers of Britain, France and the United States in London. Their principal discussion was Canada's new informal role in European economic recovery, but the Chinese situation also was reported to have taken a share of their conference time.

The background information which led to Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin's statement Wednesday that Britain would support Communist China's admission to the United Nations, would help Canada make up its mind when to recognize the Communist regime, it was stated.

Observers here believed that Canadian recognition now was a foregone conclusion, with the time of the announcement the chief problem still unanswered.

STATEMENT TO HOUSE

Pearson's last statement on the issue was given to the House External Affairs Committee just before he left for London. He said recognition was "still under consideration."

Well-informed sources said privately that Pearson personally believed the Communist regime should be recognized. He was said to feel the Communists were certainly in control of the country from every standpoint, and formed the only government with any real influence in Chinese affairs.

Seawall Repairs Not To Cost More Than $72,639

Dallas Road seawall will be completed by the city engineer's department at a cost not to exceed $72,639, City Council decided at its meeting Tuesday.

Ald. Waldo Skillings registered the sole negative vote, following the reading of a lengthy letter from G. H. Wheaton, general contractor, who had submitted a tender and charged $10,000 of the taxpayers' money had already been wasted on repair work at the seawall.

Mr. Wheaton questioned the competency of the city department to handle the work, and referred to the estimate of Cyril Jones, city engineer as, only an opinion.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of public works, Ald. Percy B. Scurrah and Ald. Harold M. Duggan were quick to support the engineer, the latter stating council had the utmost faith in its officials and would continue to have until disproven. They contended if the city engineer said his department could do the work for $13,000 to $17,000 less than two tenders submitted, he should be given the job.

Mr. Wheaton submitted a tender for $85,750 and a Vancouver firm for $4,000 higher.

"I'm all for giving him a chance but if he doesn't do it for the stated estimate and it costs us the $13,000 to $17,000 more then what is the position of our city engineer?" queried Ald. Skillings.

City Approves New Rate For Lighting Of Streets

More light for the money was the way Ken Reid, city electrical superintendent described a contract between the B.C. Electric Company and the city for a new power rate for street lighting service approved at City Council meeting Tuesday.

A system of multiple lighting of such arterial streets as Haultain, Quadra, Hillside, Fairfield and May, some 17 1/2 miles in all, will be adopted in place of the present series system now serving all of the residential areas.

The B.C. Electric proposal of a rate of 1 1/2 cents per k.w.h. average for electric power delivered to the points of consumption on the city streets was approved.

"It will be a forward step in street lighting and will be advantageous to the city," Mr. Reid said.

The change will permit the street lighting department to install lights on 17 1/2 more miles, with power going directly from the B.C.E. second distribution system, thus relieving the load on the city's present system.

The transformers can be used in other parts of the city's lighting system.

Federal School Aid Again

THE POLICY STATEMENT MADE BY Agriculture Minister James Gardiner in the House of Commons last week, relative to federal aid for education, should claim more than passing interest from all people in British Columbia. The minister stated that the government was not claiming there should be no additional federal grants to the provinces. It was, he said, claiming that the federal government should not attempt to make grants to the provinces and then order that they be spent on education. There is a clear distinction in the points made by Mr. Gardiner. They emphasize the fact that Ottawa is not ready to invade the provincial field in so far as schools are concerned.

Because educational costs have risen to the point reached in British Columbia, any move to have assistance provided by the Dominion authorities catches an attentive ear on the Pacific Coast. The statement by Tom Goode, Liberal member for Burnaby-Richmond, that British Columbia could no longer afford to carry its huge educational expenditures alone, strikes a note popular in some sections. Mr. Goode's explanation that the shift of families to the West Coast from other parts of Canada has overtaken existing facilities is true enough.

Throughout that case, however, one factor appears to have been overlooked. The money required to provide federal assistance still comes from the taxpayers. Those taxpayers live from the shores of the Pacific to the shores of the Atlantic. They do not form an isolated community east of the Rockies from which funds may be extracted whenever another part of the country needs money. When the federal collections are made by the taxing authorities, the wealthier sections automatically contribute the most.

The point we make here is that any money we get back from Ottawa will first have to be taken from British Columbia. This is so because our educational expenditures on a per capita basis rank among the highest in Canada. Moreover, one of British Columbia's school problems—apart from the obvious shortage of accommodation—arises from the fact that it wants to maintain or improve its already high standards. If the Dominion enters the field, what chance has a rich province like British Columbia, spending more than others on education, to receive more back from the federal government than it provides through tax sources?

Admittedly the Dominion has wider taxing powers, but it can still collect only where there is wealth. When the broad Canadian picture is surveyed, is there any justification for believing that we who have much, under provincial jurisdiction, will be given more—at no cost to ourselves—while other provinces remain at a depressed level?

From an altruistic point of view, as we have noted before, equalization of educational opportunities throughout the length and breadth of this country is a splendid objective. Let us not deceive ourselves, however, that we are going to get something for nothing. While education remains under the wing of the provincial government, British Columbians get the benefit of all funds collected for educational purposes. Could the same be expected if Ottawa intervened?

Time Out From Worldly Worries

ONCE AGAIN THE MAY 24 CELEBRATIONS have been carried out in typical Victoria style, with the weatherman offering full co-operation. Citizens in general will join in a vote of appreciation for those whose efforts made the holiday the success it was. The various commercial firms, the local and visiting organizations, the representatives of the different races and nationalities which add interest to our local population—all are to be congratulated for their contribution to the parade and the other features of the day.

It is not so long since the term "parade" meant a completely military show, with all the grim reminders of war. Today, although the military aspect is present and welcomed, a parade is a thing of delight and happiness for old and young. Such was that which highlighted Wednesday's observance. That the work and expense that went into the entries was appreciated by Victorians was attested by the presence of many thousands to view the spectacle. We would not overlook, either, a word of praise for the very attractive entries from our good neighbors across the Strait. Their attendance here each year adds a touch of friendliness and good fellowship to the occasion that we hope will be continued in the future. The May Queen and her attendants proved all that could be desired, earning universal congratulations on their charming performance.

For a while business cares, the international situation and other worldly worries were thrown aside and people relaxed in enjoyment—a reversion in some ways to the more leisurely, care-free atmosphere of the days of the Good Queen whose memory we celebrated. It was a fine holiday, and we are all the better for it.

They Need A Better Leader

WE HAVE TAKEN ISSUE WITH THE Dean of Canterbury on several occasions in these columns. While we grant that he may mean well, we disagree entirely with his apparent aim of weakening the western democracies in their opposition to totalitarianism. We feel that the Dean has completely underestimated the threat to freedom and Christianity that has been raised by Russia and International Communism. We feel that his attempts to laud the Soviet Union at the expense of the democracies is mistaken and at variance with the aims of those who conceive a higher destiny for man than existence as a cog in a state machine.

But, these things being said, we concede the right of the very revered gentleman to speak in public as he wishes, for we believe that the proper democratic response to a lecturer who is in error is not a shower of stones or vegetables but a vista of empty chairs.

Some Bits And Pieces

Nowadays the boys strike while the controversy is hot.

An old joke is one of the few things that never reach the age of retirement.

Turkish Election Caused Upset But Internal Changes Unlikely

By LORD KINROSS

Well-known author and writer on Turkish and Middle Eastern affairs

TURKISH democracy, tried out for the first time in a genuinely free election, has produced a landslide comparable, in its unexpectedness, to the defeat of Mr. Churchill in 1945 or the victory of President Truman in 1948. President Ismet Inonu, lineal successor of Ataturk and leader of Turkey since Ataturk's death in 1938, fell from power with the defeat by a large majority of Ataturk's People's Party, which has governed Turkey for a generation. His place as leader of the Turks, if not as President of the Republic, is taken by his former associate and subsequent rival, Celal Bayar, head of the Democratic Party.

EFFECTIVE POWER
Bayar, while leader of the Opposition, attacked Inonu's position as a partisan president; therefore he may not himself stand for the presidency. The new president may thus be a figurehead less tarred with the party brush, like General Ali Jezesoy, a former president of the Assembly. But the effective power will be wielded by Celal Bayar, presumably as Prime Minister, and his party associates.

He is a squarely-built, spectacled, sober, moderate man of 66, the son of a landowning schoolmaster, who played a prominent part in liberal politics before and after the First World War, and subsequently in Ataturk's revolution, but in an intellectual rather than a military role. He succeeded Inonu as Prime Minister a year before Ataturk's death in 1938, fell out with Inonu two years later, and broke away from him altogether to form the Democratic Party in 1945.

As Ataturk's minister of economy he did much to build up Turkey's present banking and industrial system, and his party represents the commercial and professional rather than the bureaucratic classes.

He favors an extension of free enterprise in industry, at the expense of state control. His chief associates are Fuad Koprulu, Adnan Menderes and Refik Koraltan, all members of landowning families and, like himself, supporters of the Ataturk regime. But to form an effective administration he will have to call upon a number of younger, professional men, members of the new middle-class generation, who have still to gain experience in politics.

STRICTLY LIMITED

Turkey's economy is strictly limited by the disproportionate cost of her defence, and the new government is unlikely to embark on any startling internal measures. Externally, it is in complete agreement with its predecessor, supporting the policy of alliance with the west against the threat of Russian aggression, with American military and economic aid. In Inonu's latest statement, it will have to contend with a formidable Opposition leader, accepting, however reluctantly, the logical implications of the democratic regime which he has himself created.

New English

By DENIS THOMAS

"NOBODY HERE," pronounced the youthful Byron from Trinity College, Cambridge, in the undergraduate accent of 1805, "seems to look into an Author, ancient or modern, if they can avoid it. The Muses, poor Devils, are totally neglected, except by a few Murky old Sophs and Fellows."

A present-day freshman in his third week of residence might write home in similar terms. His first impression—a general aversion to academic labor—would doubtless be the same, and his vocabulary not much different. Following the lively remarks of Mr. Morris Marples, one would expect Byron's "Murky old Sophs and Fellows" to be described nowadays as "dim little muggers and dons," and few, perhaps, in these days of unclassical education, would appreciate the facetious coinage "sophomore," shortened by Byron to "Soph." to describe a second or third-year man. Nevertheless, the vivacity of university slang is as ageless as are the genial heresies traditionally expressed in it.

UNDERGRADUATES are still to a large extent a private society: once "up," they adopt the manners and the language of their university with an almost deliberate jealousy. What is more, they are of an age and temper to indulge in the time-honored British sport of "ragging," and, as Mr. Marples points out, when there is nothing else to rag they rag their own language. "I am sorry to find," writes a contributor to the "Gentleman's Magazine" in 1795, "that a learned University is disgraced by such low nonsensical nonsense."

The sting in that remark is in the word "low." But the universities have ever led the fashion in polite slang (until quite recently, when the services took over), and many an undergraduate coinage has traveled far from its esoteric origins. It was members of the Lady Margaret Boat Club, for instance, who first gave the name "blazers" to their vivid red rowing jackets; and Miss Lana Turner, for one, might like to reflect that the original "sweater" was designed a century ago for another shape of torso, and for quite another purpose.

WHETHER or not Oxford's celebrated "er" suffix, applied with more ingenuity than discretion, derives from Harrow, as most evidence indicates, it long ago broke bounds with such household words as "brekker" and "bedadler." "Soccer" dates from the gracious days when Old Carthusians met Old Etonians in the Cup Final; and "rigger" seems to have given rise to a cacophonous family of -agers, -oggers and -uggers, most of which, with the legitimate exception of "Toggers" for Torpids, are nowadays mercifully moribund.

By analogy with the "er" habit, Oxford's occasional whim of perpetuating its institutions with such nicknames as "Wakers" (W. Wakefield) and "Adders" (Addison's Walk) gave rise in the last generation to "Sonners," identified for wondering freshmen as Dr. Stallybrass, Principal of Brasenose, near Sonnenstein. Cambridge, on the other hand, appears to pay its favorites no such compliment. Historically, its nomenclature takes a singularly canine turn; Trinity men were known until the present century as "Bulldogs," those of Clare College as "Greyhounds" and King's men simply as "Hounds." Johnnies, too, like to forget that more than 200 years (they were known as "Pigs" or "Hogs" owing, says an 18th-century report, to their "squalid figures and low habits.")

IT SAYS MUCH for the resilience of university slang that it shows no serious signs of succumbing to the post-war influence of exservive students. But it is fairly safe to predict a future for such useful importations as "rocket" (reprimand), and "type." Intending clergymen, hitherto immune, are beginning to be known at Oxford as "Bible-bashers"—a neat compromise with barrack-square jargon. The newer foundations, with little distinctive slang of their own, seem likely to absorb more from the services than from either Oxford or Cambridge. "Fripette" and "crumpet," to cite only two of the soldiers' ingenious euphemisms for women, are already, it appears, firmly established at Leeds and Durham respectively. But that ever-contemptible figure, the industrious student, has acquired a smart new label at Imperial College, London, where he is now called a "brown-bagger," after his inseparable devotion to his briefcase.

FASHIONS CHANGE, in slang as everywhere else, and it is not without significance that Oxford and Cambridge, who in the past permitted, and indeed encouraged, the words "varsity" and "undergrad," no longer do so. Cambridge, it is true, calls its weekly undergraduate journal "Varsity," but that is virtually a survival. Only in the expression "Varsity Match" (properly applied solely to Twickenham) is the word nowadays tolerated at either university. Since others have adopted them, and flaunt them with a conscious panache, "varsity" and "undergrad" have become, in Oxford and Cambridge circles, provincial. You will no longer hear the first of the touchline at Tiffney Road or Fenner's, and the second survives only among landladies and visiting aunts, who know no better. Some snobberies refuse to die; and there is justice in that.

There will never be a brotherhood of mankind until there is no need for building-bomb shelters.

There will never be a brotherhood of mankind as long as people spend more time figuring on retaliation than they do on trying to do good.

FIGHT FAIRLY

Is Dr. Goebbels really dead, or is it his ghost that stalks the land of his conquerors?

Echoes of Hitler's arch propagandist have recently assumed the taint of railing accusations brought against the Victoria Citizens' Association in terms of "a fanatical faction that will stoop to despicable tactics, muck-raking," and "unfair, vicious, slimy attacks." If these revivings are true then the accused must be a very bad lot indeed. Investigation discloses, however, their membership to be composed of citizens of the highest probity and business acumen in every department of civic affairs. The storm appears to centre around an advertisement quoting a widely published press report of a brotherly quarrel in a beer parlor which ended in the death of one of the brothers. A most unfortunate incident indeed, but the forthcoming plebiscite being in the nature of, shall we say, a pugilistic contest, most naturally every advantage will be taken of the opponent's weakness. In this case one's guard is down, leaving him wide open to trouble and, of course, every boxer knows what to do then.

As the fight enters its final round, let the contestants forego the Goebbels devil's touch of smear, vilification and false accusation. May both parties fight fairly and feed their followers with facts, not fancies. And may the more righteous cause triumph!

ELECTORS DECIDED LAST JUNE

I had occasion at a recent meeting of Victoria Progressive Conservatives to sound a note of warning with reference to the position that the party should take with regard to the continuance of the present Coalition Government. I am one of those who had hoped that the Coalition Government could continue for some time, but in that respect I appear to be in the minority in both the ranks of the Liberal Party and the Progressive Conservative Party. I warned that it would be inadvisable for the Progressive Conservatives to make any move which would indicate to the public that they wish to end the Coalition. The danger of such an announcement is obvious.

By Thursday's press I see that none other than the president of the British Columbia Liberal Association has predicted the end of the coalition. His words in part are as follows: "It is my confirmed opinion that there is no possibility of a Coalition Government continuing... and I mean preceding the next election." I am one of those who believe that the Premier, being the leader of the Liberal Party, will not subscribe fully to a termination of what has been very good government for British Columbia "preceding the next elections." I have no doubt, however, that before there is another general election a joint declaration will be made by the leaders of the parties, which will bring about the termination of the coalition.

When the late R. L. Maitland joined with Dr. Hart in forming a Coalition Government, he did so in what he considered the public interest, and Progressive Conservatives generally gave up whatever personal ambitions they had for any local pre-eminence. So did a number of Liberals. It was a wise decision—a patriotic one, too the Hart-Maitland formula was too rigid to continue for too long a period and now we have the dictum of the president of the Liberal Association that there is no room for compromise.

Under these circumstances in due course the electors will have to decide who shall govern in British Columbia.

The Conservative Party cannot be accused of any greedy desire for power and patronage. They did their part at a time when sacrifices had to be made in the public interest.

SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

On behalf of the National Officers, I should like to tell you once more, how sincerely grateful we are to the press of Canada for the generous co-operation and the strong editorial support given the Canadian Red Cross Society in the 1950 campaign. Such support has played an important part in the success of the appeal.

We are pleased to be able to advise you that the 1950 appeal is approaching a successful conclusion, and that when we have heard from the localities where delayed campaigns have been—and are still being—held, the success of the campaign will be assured.

H. H. RIMMER,

Chairman, National Publicity Committee.

WAGE RATES

I note in your paper that the large contractors and the head officials of the Carpenters' Union are getting together for a closed shop and a higher wage rate which, of course, means a higher wage rate for all building tradesmen. The carpenters customarily start the ball rolling. This looks like the usual annual assault on the long-suffering public.

I distinguish between the large contractors and the head officials of the union on one side, and the small house contractors and repairers and house carpenters and repairers on the other side, because the interests of these groups do not coincide. The head officials of the Union have secure jobs for some time on the payroll of the contractors doing large jobs and therefore they would like an increase. On the other hand, the smaller house contractors and carpenters working on their projects know by the unemployment in this group, and the lack of contracts for new housing, that the limit has long since been past. It is manifestly not to the interest of this latter group that costs already prohibiting the general public from building new houses or repairing them go higher. Already it is apparent if one wants a new home, one must build it oneself, as it is quite impossible to meet the heavy rates which, however, can be met on large projects. I earnestly hope that small contractors, house carpenters and the general long-suffering public will make their voice heard at this new evidence of selfish extortion.

Carpenters averaging now between $250 or $300 per month do not need an increase this year, when salaried people earning from $150 to $225 per month cannot afford to build or repair their homes. I think it urgent that this matter be aired at once, before negotiations are completed.

BARON TEDDER, marshal of the R.A.F., has just dragged a political dead cat back into view.

He thinks the western program to hold communism won't mean much until the West makes it possible for the states of central Europe to regain their freedom.

That means principally Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria. Russian troops and Russian-trained stooges have helped to set up Communist governments in all of them since the Second World War.

Only after the whole area had been grabbed by the Communists did the United States lead off in a "containment" policy. The program started with aid to Greece and Turkey in 1947, went through the Marshall Plan to help western Europe and is now building the North Atlantic Pact.

But all the time top political leaders in the West said much about the people of middle Europe who had failed to collect what the United Nations charter promised to the whole world: the right to determine their own form of government and to preserve national independence.

This left outside the pale many people who had contributed much to Europe's old brilliance.

Now Lord Tedder says this cradle of old European culture must be made secure. In a Washington interview he said:

"We are in a struggle of ideologies. We've got to win it psychologically and morally. Europe is the birthplace of democracy. I think we would go astray if we drew a line on a military map and said 'The Rhine is the thing'."

The U.N.'s promise of independence for all people has become a sweet leash in central Europe. The democratic leaders have either had to run for their lives, meet a firing squad or just disappear.

ASHOK

London (Ont.) Free Press

When Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India's ambassador to the United States, presented two young elephants to Washington Zoo, a sign of friendship, she remarked that Ashok, the male elephant, had been named after an Indian emperor who 2300 years ago made a name for himself by renouncing war as a method of settling international disputes. It was a painful and humiliating reminder of man's age-old ability to think himself out of the infinite morass of war.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THESE DAYS," said the Elevator Man, "we've got so used to streamlining our work and trying to get more and more done that we've carried it over into our play. The idea of games used to be to exercise our minds or our muscles. Nowadays the aim seems to be to avoid any pleasure, and skip through our entertainment as quickly as possible. Time was when you could have a nice little rest at the bridge table while the cards were shuffled and dealt. Now they have a machine that does all that and not a second is lost from the play. Canasta has started right out with deck holders and other equipment to speed things up and avoid the chance of any wasteful relaxation. We don't want to have any nonsense like sitting back and enjoying ourselves. We've got to hurry, hurry, get this game finished and another one started. I suppose it keeps you from getting old. You don't last that long. Going down!"

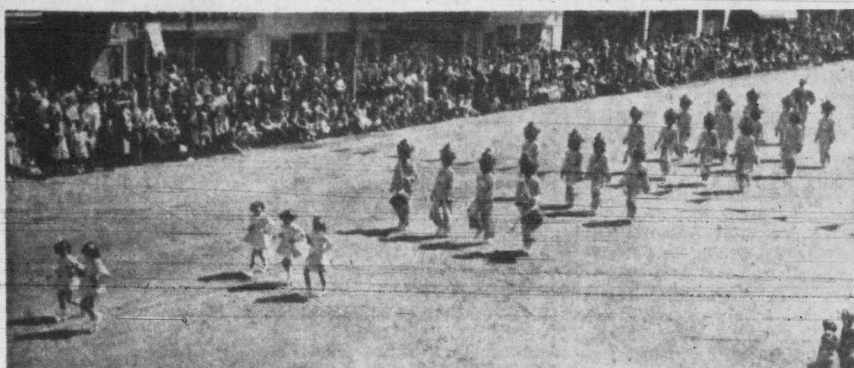

"It's funny," said the Elevator Man, "how the idea of all this speed and rush grew up. It doesn't do just to build a better mousetrap these days. It's got to be a faster one too. It's got to empty itself and re-set itself and catch another mouse without delay. In an age of escalators we don't use them to rest. We run up them and save 2.67 seconds. We hurry through our work to gain time, then we hurry through our play to gain more time, and then we're at a loss. What to do with the time we've saved? We're like the old string saver who collected miles of string all his life but never had any parcels to wrap. When we get time on our hands we try to brush it off quick. Lower main!"

"I wonder," said the Elevator Man, "where it's all going to end. We can't just go faster and faster without a limit. Some day somebody's going to stop suddenly in the midst of his hurry and ask 'why?' The question will run through the country like wildfire, why? why? why? People will halt their rush and a great peace will descend on the world. It'll be a wonderful period for humanity—and it might last right up till supper time."

Need Both Green, Wax Beans To Get Vitamins

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Beans are another of the more tender crops which are included in the late May sowing schedule. There is a choice of many varieties, and here again, by selecting those of different maturing periods, harvesting may be extended.

Whether to sow bush or pole beans is a question each must decide according to conditions. The amount of space required by the one is offset by the necessity of providing adequate support for the other. When choosing bush beans include both the green and wax varieties. One will supply the vitamins lacking in the other.

For enjoyable eating, beans should be picked while young and tender. There may be some measure of satisfaction in being able to display an 18-inch Scarlet Runner, but there is a lot more in eating them when six to eight inches long.

SALAD VARIETY
To add variety to salads, try a small sowing of Bronze Beauty lettuce. This is a non-heading variety with leaves shaped somewhat like an oak and bronze in color.

It is said to have a "nut-like flavor," but so far I haven't determined which nut it resembles.

However, it is certainly different from the ordinary varieties, and a welcomed change.

In this district I find that the end of May is a good time to sow beans. Some include these in the April schedule, but the cold nights hold back the growth resulting in a woody, flavorless root. Of course, I like my beans not more than three inches in diameter—tender and juicy. The best greens are an excellent substitute for spinach or chard.

Being a native of Egypt, it likes lots of sun, and should always be sown in an open position, and where it will get plenty of water. The quality of the root depends on the rate of growth.

A detail-packed, 31-page by-law which will raise the municipal revenue by $50,000 for the latter half of the year by means of trades license revision, was introduced at the close of a four-hour City Council meeting Tuesday.

"We haven't injured anyone," Ald. Harold M. Diggon, chairman of finance committee told his colleagues. "We have studied the matter thoroughly and feel this will raise the money in the most equitable way possible."

He stated that unless the city instituted a business tax it could not get complete equality.

Other fees, all on a six-month basis, include: Theatres with 975 seating capacity and over $750; any person carrying on business of an express company, $150;

Crowded Program Provides Entertainment For Thousands In Gay Holiday Mood

Today Victorians are relaxing after seeing a grand pageant and enjoying themselves to the fullest in one of the finest May 24 spectacles seen here.

Throughout the day they were entertained with a variety of events which included a big parade, regatta, sports and fireworks.

Old Sol, who has been somewhat shy of late in making a full dress appearance over Victoria, came out in all his glory for the celebrations. The temperature soared to 66 degrees at 11.30 in the morning, four degrees higher than the previous year.

Although the thermometer dropped to 60 degrees in mid-afternoon, the temperature was pleasantly warm and ideal for the holiday crowds. There was a slight breeze but the sky was cloudless.

60,000 SEE PAGEANT

Biggest event of the day which attracted tens of thousands to downtown Victoria was the May 24 parade which started promptly at 10.30 from its assembly point at the Royal Athletic Park and following its long route to the Legislative Buildings.

A full hour before the parade got under way, thousands of Victorians and visitors from out-of-town were already lined up along the route. In some places they were lined up six and seven deep. It was estimated that about 60,000 saw the colorful pageant.

The grand parade was arranged by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Victoria Lodge No. 2. The lodge spent weeks in preparing the feature attraction of the day.

Fifty Horses Ridden Expertly Take Part In Holiday Gymkhana

Close to 900 equine enthusiasts were on hand Wednesday afternoon to witness the Victoria Riding and Hunt Club's first gymkhana held on the club's Cedar Hill Cross Road property, behind the Uplands Golf Course.

Fifty horses from local and up-island stables were seen in the eleven events which made up the day's program.

Stable honors went to Mrs. D. Watney of Duncan, whose 11-year-old gelding, Home Service, piled up most points in riding and jump events and was judged best saddle horse in the show.

Riding honors were captured by 19-year-old Myrna Baile, Comox, who captured two firsts, a second and a third in individual competition and was on winning team in four-horse jumping event.

BIRTHDAY EVENT

It was a particularly big day for the young rider as it was her birthday. Having been born at 11 p.m., she was allowed to ride for the last time in children's events as well as open competitions.

Top hand in stock horse events was Ian Tyson, who collected a first prize ribbon in a barrel race and a second and third in a western work class.

Winner of the difficult six-jump Victoria Course event was Viking, owned and ridden by Mrs. R. G. Shanks. Second was Ann Cavenagh's Caramona; third, Ron Wakefield's Gamelin, and fourth, Elizabeth Oliver's Water Lily.

Water Lily was first in the hunter class, with Polly, owned and ridden by C. C. Carpenter, second, and Home Service, with Miss Baile riding, third.

Second to Home Service in the saddle class event was St. Simon, an F. J. Thorne entry, ridden by Miss Baile. Third was D. B. Carley's Hollywood, ridden by Vearle Leith.

Umpire Hurt, Another Dies

KAMLOOPS (CP)—One umpire died and another is in hospital following a baseball game here Wednesday between Kamloops Elks and North Kamloops.

Armand (Mickey) Ryan, 48, a prominent businessman here, was called in after the first umpire had retired with a broken collarbone. He had been hit by a ball.

Shortly after taking over, Mr. Ryan collapsed and died while walking across the field to question a player.

Susan Burton's Whiskey captured the novice jumping event, with Roberta Crombie's Magic second, and Allegro, ridden by Eleanor Isherwood, third.

In a novelty race requiring the horsemen to rescue a straw-filled dummy, western rider Bill Smith was the winner, closely followed by Darrell Walker and Tom McLeod.

In two events for children, Miss Baile scored to win both first prizes. In the riding feature, Roberta Crombie was second and Sheila Olson third. In the juniors' jumping event, with competitors ranging in age from 10 to 16, Sheila Olson placed second and Barbara Ann Crombie third.

TWO APPEARANCES

Tom McLeod, riding his stock horse, Goldie, was winner of the western working class. Goldie, earlier in the day had taken part in the mammoth down-town parade.

In the exciting barrel race, red-headed Kathy Roseman, aged 12, drew loud applause from spectators for coming third in competition with cowboy riders Ian Tyson and Roy Jewell.

Winning riders in the four-horse team jumping event were Myrna Baile, Susan Burton, Jill Dunlop and Ed Lister.

NORTH SEES BIG OIL HUNT

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—The search for oil is spreading to the vast reaches of Canada's north country and the hunt is bringing echoes of the Alaska Highway boom to this far north-eastern British Columbia town.

Three hundred pack horses are being loaded here by the big oil companies and soon their scouts will be heading on oil discovery missions into the Northwest Territories.

Tax Plan For Age Pensions

OTTAWA (CP)—Raising of revenue for old age security by means of a sales tax was one of the many methods discussed Wednesday by the joint committee of the Senate and Commons on old age security.

M. W. Sharp of the department of finance was questioned by members of both Houses on a brief he submitted to the committee.

When asked if the Canadian public would "accept" a sales tax for social security purposes, Mr. Sharp replied: "I do not think I should answer that question. I would suggest the members here are much closer to public opinion than I am."

Fairies, Elves And Pixies Entertain Young Friends At Garden Library Pageant

Fairies, elves and pixies danced on the green in the shadow of great oaks for May Queen Beverly Hearn and her court, Wednesday afternoon in the "Whatsoever Things Are Lovely" program staged in the garden of Mrs. Lesley Pollard, 1210 Tattersall Drive, in conjunction with May 24 celebrations.

Hundreds of parents brought their children to the colorful event held for the fifth consecutive year by Mrs. W. W. McGill, director of Children's Garden Library.

Pastel-frosted queen of spring, music, art, literature, drama, health and race friendship, represented by pupils of elementary schools in Saanich were crowned as warm sun glinted down through the trees.

Throughout the program 50 gaily garbed youngsters from Wynne Shaw School danced on the centre green. Proceeds went to the Save the Children Fund. Representing the city were Ald. Hilda Baxter and Ald. Margaret Christie.

Portia Law School, Boston, Mass., was the first law school in the world devoted to the legal education of women.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

The truth is finally out. Sam Randall, one of the canniest operators in the horseracing game, has finally admitted he constructed those two tracks out Sidney way so that he could legally hold two charters under the names of Goodwood and Colwood and transfer them should the necessity arise. Everybody connected with racing in the province realized Randall was not spending $50,000 to build a pair of strips out of the goodness of his heart, but it was not until this week that Sam actually disclosed the reason behind the move in an interview in Vancouver.

It's All A Nice Dream

Randall further stated that he would not attempt to stage a race meeting on either of the tracks until such time as the new speedway is built between Victoria and the Patricia Bay airport. Latest information is that the road is at least a couple of years away, which means the tracks will remain idle for some time to come. As a matter of fact, I don't think Randall is too worried over the future of his Sidney plants. He protected those two charters and that was worth the financial outlay. In order to operate racing at Sidney he would have to put out a lot more cash for the construction of a grandstand and the stables required to accommodate the several hundred horses necessary to stage a seven or 14-day meeting.

Forecasts New Speed Mark

Speedboat racing enthusiast Brock Robertson dropped in today and informed me that the forthcoming attempt on the world speedboat record on Lake Washington would be successful. "I have been over there recently and looked over the boat and watched it in trial runs and am confident the Seattle boys have something," he said. "I know the boat has hit up better than 160 miles per hour in its trial runs." The present record of 141.74 m.p.h. was established in 1939 by the late Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Victoria speedboat followers are especially interested in the record attempt, in that Ted Jones who designed and supervised the building of the Seattle craft is the chap who designed a number of the local craft. He is a boat hobbyist.

Les Patrick Goes East

Lester Patrick has left for Montreal to represent the Pacific Coast Hockey League at the inter-league sessions. En route east Patrick will meet up with business manager Fred Hutchinson at Minneapolis. Hutch has been at the Minnesota city for the past few weeks supervising the publishing of his annual baseball roster book for the American Association.

While in Montreal Lester will certainly spend some time with Frank Selke of the Canadiens getting a line on what players the Cougars can expect from the N.H.L. club for next season's operations. Lester will also take a jaunt down to New York for a talk with son Lynn before returning home early in June.

Cooper In Main Event Victory At Auto Races

The number of cars was on the short side but some fair competition was turned in for more than 2,000 Victoria Day celebrants who chose Langford Speedway auto races to wind up their holiday festivities.

Only five of 10 starters finished the 30-lap main event and at the top of the five was the local veteran, Dave Cooper, whose No. 9 car was the second hottest thing on the track.

Reving up a few degrees warmer was the Seattle No. 9 job with ace driver Ernie Spaulding at the controls. It got into grief in the feature contest, though, relieving Cooper of his only worry.

Spaulding was making a clean sweep. He drove the fastest time trial, and won all of his races up to then—the helmet dash, the second heat race and the fourth heat race—beating Cooper each time.

But on the first lap of the feature event his right front wheel climbed Cooper's left rear in a passing attempt as the field was bunched, and that was it. The car spun and was hooked by George Hutchinson's No. 51 wagon and both were out of the running.

LITTLE BROWN

Brownie Brown in No. 10 finished second to Cooper in the 30-lap main, but he didn't give the leader much to worry about. Cliff Spaulding in No. 3 drove a steady race to finish third, and Corky Thomas in No. 27 nipped Bob Simpson and the No. 20 car at the finish to take fourth spot.

Perhaps the best race was the fourth heat which saw Cooper start ahead of Spaulding and keep him in tow for six laps. The Seattle boy finally got through on the inside and Cooper's car didn't have the extra pep it needed to catch him.

In a come-back appearance, Frank Barnes in No. 4 put on a nice show to win the first heat race. He did some fancy caper cutting in the third heat to place third. Novice Cliff Spaulding won the event with Simpson placing second.

In a crowd-pleasing stock car race Gordon Barr drove a 1934 Plymouth to the checkered flag over Brian Stark and Al Lavis.

The gals then took over the stock cars and Sue Simpson, wife of the race car driver Bob, brought a '32 Model A Ford home first.

Pro-Rec tumblers gave a mat performance before the start of the main event.

Cricket Centennial Observed

An official part of Wednesday's May 24 celebrations was the cricket match at Beacon Hill Park between the North and the South which commemorated 100 years of the sport in the city. Ted Parkins of the South is the batter, with N. Howarth of the North wicket keeper. The North of the island team won the match.

FRENCH FILLY ASMENA CAPTURES ENGLISH OAKS

EPSOM, Eng. (Reuter)—Marcel Boussac's french filly Asmena today won the Oaks, major British classic for fillies, over a 1½-mile course here.

Another French horse, Mme. P. LaFarge's Plume, was second, with J. Musker's Stella Polaris third.

Asmena, winner by a length, started at 5 to 1. Plume, a 10-to-1 shot, ran 1½ lengths ahead of Stella Polaris. Stella Polaris was 100 to 7.

Thorner Stars As North Downs South

With Jack Thorner in the starring role with a second-innings total of 55 runs in 20 minutes the North of the Island cricket side Wednesday defeated the representatives team from the South in the first match of officially marking the celebration of 100 years of the sport in the city.

The low-scoring contest saw the North take a 37 to 24 run margin in the first innings and then answer the South's 63-run second innings with the loss of only four wickets.

It was through no fault of bowler Jim Richards of the South that his team was beaten. Richards was slightly less than sensational in the opening innings as he took seven wickets while giving up four runs.

Percy Payne, one of the most famous of city cricketers, bowled the first ball.

LOCAL JUNIORS LOSE

In Vancouver the Victoria junior team lost the John Cameron cricket trophy to the mainland eleven.

Vancouver opened with 63 runs to Victoria's 32 and then scored 62 in their second innings. Victoria came back with 67 for five wickets but time ran out to halt any possible chance the Islanders had of victory.

Jim Sherratt and Russ Chaloner were outstanding for Victoria. Sherratt took four wickets for 21 runs and five for 21 and topped the Victoria batsmen with 21 runs in the Islanders' second at bat.

Tom Casey Joins Winnipeg Bombers

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers counted on former Hamilton Wildcat halfback Tom Casey today for backfield strength in the 1950 football season.

Casey, a negro and the second American import signed by the westerners this year, said he came here because he also wanted to study medicine at the University of Manitoba.

Zany Double Play Marks Ball Game At Brooklyn

Everything happens in Brooklyn! It's corny but it's true. Remember the day three men wound up on third base? The fly ball that bounced off Babe Herman's head?

The 1950 Dodgers Wednesday night added the novelty of a three-man Roman chariot race from third base to home plate that wound up an "interference" double play by Chicago Cubs. Sounds complicated? Well, it is.

The confusion in the eighth inning, was wonderful to behold. It practically chased the wrestlers off the television screens.

Jackie Robinson was on third, Gil Hodges on second, Eddie Miksis hit a ball to third base. That set it up.

The third baseman threw to the plate and catcher Mickey Owen chased Robinson back to third. When Robby arrived he found Gil Hodges also standing on the bag. Owen touched both men and the umpire ruled Hodges out.

Then Miksis headed for second base and Owen threw to Wayne Terwilliger. Although he had been ruled out, Hodges started for the plate in a three-man race with Robinson and Owen.

Down the stretch they came. Robinson was first, Hodges second and Owen third. But the finish was not official. An objection was lodged. The relay from Terwilliger was taken by first baseman Phil Cavarretta who tagged Robinson sliding across the plate. Plate umpire Art Gore ruled Robinson out because Hodges interfered.

The official scoring was a double play—third baseman Bob ington. Replacing Early Wynn in the second, Beardon allowed only four hits in 7½ innings for a 5 to 4 decision over Joe Haynes.

Arena Floor Unchanged Consultant Tells City

There has been no change in the arena floor nor damage that could be attributed to frost or any other reason, since the Arena Commission took over the arena after construction last fall, C. T. Hamilton, consulting engineer, told Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The arena committee advised council Mr. Hamilton refused to accept the floor and that it must be put in the condition as called for in the plans and specifications, by Luney Bros. and Hamilton, contractors, beginning work not later than Monday. Work must be completed within a reasonable time the committee ruled.

"I refused to accept the floor last fall at the close of work," Mr. Hamilton told council. "I gave my reasons then. They are the same now. There has been no change, no damage to the floor due to frost."

Girl Rider In Gymkhana Contest Injured When Horse Falls At Jump, Rolls On Her

One accident marred Wednesday afternoon's horse show at the Victoria Riding and Hunt Club.

Elizabeth Oliver sustained a fracture of the collarbone when her mount fell in attempting to clear a hurdle in a jumping event.

The horse, Mickey, owned by Mrs. A. deC. Denny, lost its balance when its legs knocked a wooden barrier which did not fall free. The horse rolled on its youthful rider in the fall.

Miss Oliver was treated on the scene by a St. John Ambulance man and was taken from there to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, where X-ray revealed the shoulder break.

Miss Oliver is a Grade 12 student at Oak Bay High School. She came fourth in the jump event in which she was injured, on the performance of her own horse, Water Lily, which she rode minutes before taking her second mount onto the course.

Red Skelton, currently co-starring with Gloria De Haven on the Capitol screen in "The Yellow Cab Man," began his career at the age of 10 in a traveling medicine show. Joseph Cotten is not one of those actors who started out to be a reporter, a decorator, a flyer or a bond salesman and then was shanghaied by some circumstance into becoming a follower of Thespis. Sarah Churchill Backed By Father In Movie Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sarah Churchill, an actress with red hair and a famous father, reported for her first Hollywood movie this week. ***

The actress' father is Winston Churchill, noted for laying bricks, painting pictures, writing books and other accomplishments. She is here for a part in "Royal Wedding" with Fred Astaire, Peter Lawford and probably Judy Garland. The latter appears set to replace June Allyson, who dropped from the cast to have a baby. ***

"My father was very interested in this assignment," said Miss Churchill, who has just returned from introducing her new husband, photographer Anthony Beauchamp, to her family. "He has always been interested in my career." ***

BROKE TRADITION

Sh admitted her father was traditional when she forsook the traditional family field of politics. ***

"My sister, Diana, trained to be an actress, but she retired when she married a politician," Miss Churchill said. "My youngest sister married a politician, and my brother Randolph became a politician and journalist. I turned out differently." But despite the family's sur- ***

Spectacular Show Given By City Motorcyclists

A spectacular two-hour show by the Victoria Motorcycle Club attracted hundreds of holiday-makers to Macdonald Park Wednesday afternoon. ***

From the time 16 club members opened the show with their precision riding until Al Lewis rode through a flaming wall, hardly a person stirred from his position. ***

The lengthy motorcycle rodeo included double-upping acts; backward riding and antics by Steve Collins; the "Portland Rose," performed by six riders on one machine; a solo by Reg Shanks and his motorcycle and sidcar with clown Art Carrington. ***

ton helping out: stunts with parallel bars, a lean-out act, and doublehead stand. ***

The ramp-jump by Bob Shanks towards the end of the rodeo kept the spectators on the edge of their seats until he had completed his jump. ***

May Queen Beverley and her party attended a portion of the rodeo. ***

Atlas Theatre

Clifton Webb appears as the father of 12 children in the film version of the human interest best-seller "Cheaper By The Dozen," now at the Atlas Theatre. ***

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

NOTHING LIKE getting up bright and early in the morning. The sun glints on the snow peaks of the Olympics. The dew glistens on the pebbled ear, as my friend Matt Arnold used to say. And the birds are spitting cotton from their beaks, lubricating and tuning up for a day of song. They sound a bit like the fiddles chattering before a symphony starts.

The night-washed air is sweet. You drink it like a cold, refreshing tail one. The scent of flowers comes from their beds clear and fresh. Small leaves that flutter in the stronger day, are still. Wakening sounds of nature are magnified. The sea has new colors, dark green where the shadow of the eastern shore stretch out over the water.

A FELLOW steps into the little job that got him up so early. Maybe he's trying to salvage logs that broke away from his mooring in the wind the day before, and he rises to catch a favorable tide. He's alone on the shore—a figure out of mythology. He hoists his pry behind a timber and starts to heave. That he shouldn't have done.

Archie used to tell me that a man should never start strenuous physical work first thing in the morning. His theory was that the body wakened slowly. Muscles, relaxed and flaccid from sleep, didn't co-ordinate properly immediately after rising. He illustrated his point by saying some people staggered when they first got out of bed. Others, addicted to physical jerks before breakfast, sometimes fell in a heap. You see, he explained, the body is probably closer to death in sleep than at any other normal time. It has to come alive gradually. Not me, though. I'm half dead most of the time, and three-quarters gone after 10 at night.

ANYHOW, A BODY shouldn't go logging too early in the morning. One good heave and a red film seems to float before the eyes, the stomach turns over from something other than hunger, and strength drains away like paint strained through cheesecloth.

Still the wake-up-and-live, early morning idea is good for a while. Gives a fellow a bit of a pioneer feeling. Makes him appreciate lying in bed on other days, too. Ho, hum. It's been a long day. Mind if I have a short nap now?

WHEN THE U.N. has settled the cold war and capped a few other international eruptions, it ought to turn its attention to amateur sport. Not that the athletes need much help. They're young and healthy and should be able to look after themselves. But the well-meaning and honest officials require some protection.

An official should know his business. Often he does, but that doesn't seem to matter. What could be more inoffensive than a track judge at school sports? Not much, unless it's an old lady with her tating. A track judge, though, just doing his job, can suddenly become a villain so deeply dyed that he makes Jesse James, Genghis Khan and All Baba look like a bunch of pre-primary kids during slumber time.

IT HAPPENS this way: Most of the loudest mouthed spectators and team members spend so much time developing a Leo Durocher technique, that they don't give themselves a chance to learn the rules. They go on popular assumption. They've read about runners breaking the tape and they think the scampering youngster who hits the string first wins a race. He or she does sometimes. But the rules say the winner is the first one across the finish line. There's quite a difference there. If a runner dives at the tape and leaves legs trailing behind.

So the judge, knowing this, picks the first runner across the line after another one has hit the tape. That's when the rubarub starts. A conscientious judge is as bewildered as a man who's stumbled into a hornet's nest. There's so much buzzing. He may have come to the meet clear-eyed and happy, buoyed up with a flattering sense of importance. But the hornet's nest of public disapproval obscures his sun. He's only got one chance. If he stands up straight, tells off a few of his critics in a quiet but assured voice, he's saved. But it's mighty disconcerting and discouraging.

THERE'S ANOTHER way out of these troubles. A peace-loving master of compromise who once worked for University School here, found it. He liked to keep everybody happy. When he refereed a game he always tried to make it end in a draw. Sometimes the match lasted 15 or 20 minutes too long, while he was arranging the result. Sometimes it had to be cut a quarter of an hour short. But nobody was beaten if human effort could prevent it. Wonder if the technique could be worked out for the races?

Premier Helps 'Keep Forests Green'

liamson, who is one of junior forest wardens on Vancouver Island. Plates are available from junior wardens for $1. Money will be spent setting up forestry camps for young forest protection campaigners.

Hundreds Take Day Trip To See Parade

The C.P.R.'s Princess Patricia brought several hundred excursionists from Vancouver to add to the throngs which crowded Victoria for the May celebrations.

Apart from that land, sea and air transportation officials in Victoria reported today traffic on the May 24 holiday was only slightly heavier than usual.

Being a mid-week holiday, most people stayed close to home to watch the many attractions being staged locally.

Since May 24 is a Canadian holiday, there was no great influx of visitors from the U.S. Hotels reported only average houses.

Highways were busy with people heading for beaches and lakes, but bus services to up-land centres were not overtaxed and no extra coaches were run. A Vancouver Island Coach Lines spokesman said there were fewer May 24 travelers than in previous years.

Both Drivers Fined After Car Collision

Two drivers involved in a collision May 11 at Cook and Lang Streets were each fined $35 in city police court today when found guilty of careless driving. The fines were paid by Stanley G. Erickson, 932 Easter Road, and George A. Stewart, 2615 Wark Street.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ruled the two were equally to blame for the mishap.

In passing sentence the magistrate observed: "If people won't take care to look at intersections, accidents will happen."

He deemed that neither driver had exercised sufficient caution at the corner.

He ordered drivers' licenses of the two men be suspended for a time to be set by the superintendent of motor vehicles.

'Joe' North Outdoes Himself Collecting Flood Relief Fund

U.S. 'INVASION' STARTS SOON

An "invasion" of United States tourists is expected in Victoria during the coming week-end when many workers south of the border get a four-day week-end.

Tuesday, May 30, is Memorial Day, and with the five-day week prevalent in the States, plus the fact that many people will also get Monday off, it adds up to a busy time for local hotels, restaurants, transportation facilities and stores.

HOLIDAY BLUES

Aching Backs And Suntans Rule Today

"O my aching back!" were the first words heard in many offices in Victoria this morning, along with "Take it easy, Joe, sunburn you know."

With the sudden change in the weather Wednesday, many over-anxious Victorians overdid their first chance to get out in bathing suits and other warm-weather outfits. This morning numerous people woke up not only feeling in the pink, but also looking in the pink. Backs, arms and legs are ranging in color from pink, to a scorched scarlet, in most parts of the city today. Although the weatherman reports an official high of 66, readings ranging up to 78 were recorded in some districts. The total sunshine for the day was 14 hours and 24 minutes, just 18 minutes off the record amount of sunshine for this year, set on Tuesday, when the sun was out for 14 hours and 42 minutes.

$100 Tools Stolen

Lattiers' tools worth $100 were stolen over the May 24 holiday from the second floor of the Topaz Junior High School, now nearing completion, city police were notified today by L. L. Gordon.

Travels Route In Wheelchair To Coax $2,000 From Citizens

For many years, Christopher Roland "Joe" North has covered May 24 parade routes collecting money for charity in a blanket, but this year he outdid himself as he collected a record-breaking total of more than $2,000 for Manitoba flood relief.

Just out of a sick bed after a dangerous illness, the familiar figure in the bowler hat navigated the route in a wheelchair coaxing thousands of citizens to toss something into the blankets being carried on each side of the street.

Proceeds were still being counted at press time today and the total of $2,000 was an estimate only.

Another $500 for Manitoba flood relief was collected in proceeds from the May 24th dance at the Club Sirocco. The sum was raised from admission prices plus receipts from auction of a number of items of merchandise donated by city retailers.

Numerous organizations and agencies are rallying to add to the flood relief fund.

Students of Mount View High School will stage a variety show on Monday night at 8:15, with every 50 cent piece received as admission going to help the stricken province.

The show will include musical selections by the school band, glee club, bagpipes, piano and trumpet solos, and a skit. Frank Snowsell is in charge of arrangements.

Esquimalt Bowladrome, 1225 Esquimalt Road, will donate its proceeds of Friday, June 2, for flood relief. Even pin-setters will give their time to help the cause. The newly-formed Victoria Chinese drill team will appear in Nanaimo next Tuesday at an entertainment in aid of Manitoba. The up-island city's fund was swelled when the city council donated $500.

HOME SERVICE

Dietician Addresses Gathering

The making of simple nutritious soups was subject of a talk by Miss May Brown, Y.W.C.A. dietitian, at Red Cross Home Emergency Service May meeting. In addition to recipes for good stock, basis of so many soups and broths, the speaker gave a variety of recipes for cream soups and bouillions, elaborating her theme with pointers on how to introduce vitamins and vegetable salts to make soup nutritious as well as delicious for invalids and children.

Outside leaves of lettuce, celery leaves, potato skins, should never be discarded. A lettuce leaf floated on top of hot chicken or other soup would absorb the grease, she noted.

Miss Brown was introduced by secretary, Miss Ethel Bruce, and thanked by Mrs. Hicks.

The occasion being the sixth anniversary of the inception of the service, concluded with an informal social. Refreshments were served under convenship of the supervisor, Mrs. R. Coope, and Mrs. G. Day, charter member of the housekeeping staff, cut the cake.

The I.O.D.E. was founded in 1900 and is a voluntary, patriotic non-sectarian, non-political and philanthropic organization.

Olympic Peninsula Wedding Trip For The John E. Mains

A honeymoon motoring trip on the Olympic Peninsula followed the wedding of John Edward Mains and Miss Dorothy Eileen, daughter of Mrs. Mary Clare Coleman, 749 McClure Street, and the late Peter Coleman.

They were married Saturday evening at the Bishop's House, 740 View Street, by Father Donald LeHane.

Given in marriage by her brother, Michael, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Norah Coleman.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mains, 3673 Cedar Hill Road, was supported by his brother, David Mains, as best man.

A topaz pendant, gift of her husband, was the bride's sole jewelry. Her dress of heavy white satin featured sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves and full skirt adorned with satin rosettes at the hipline.

A heart-shaped tiara, embroidered with beads held her chapel-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of scarlet roses and white carnations showered with dainty white heather.

Pale blue taffeta fashioned the bustle-backed gown worn by her sister, with elbow length blue lace mitts, and matching tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

A reception followed in Windermere Hotel where Joshua Smith proposed the toast to his niece.

The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth and decorated with lighted candles in silver holders, was centred with a three-tier cake.

For traveling, Mrs. Mains wore a squirrel neckpiece with her navy gabardine coat, silk afternoon frock and accessories en tone. Her corsage bouquet was of Tailsman roses.

FINGERPRINTS DON'T LIE

THE STORY: Police are investigating the murder of the wealthy Wendell Palmer, whose skull was battered with the base of a telephone at his home. The body was discovered by Azalea Palmer, the murdered man's daughter, who had been driven home by Nadine Fennell, a friend. Among the police officers investigating the crime is James Stivers, of the Scientific Investigating Division, who reveals his suspicion there may be fingerprints on the phone by warning detective Pete Kelso to stay away from it.

IV

The dark library was fitfully dazed by the lightnings of the photographer's flash bulbs as he made records of the body, the furniture, the room. One of the police detectives took and recorded measurements and distances and made a detailed floor map with a notation of every article of furniture.

Before long, newspaper photographers and reporters would be moving about, making notes and taking pictures of their own.

By the shattered form that had gathered all this throng, the medical examiner knelt and busied himself about his grisly chores, unrestrained by any of the warnings not to touch or move anything.

With delicate caution the Scientific Investigation Division man, James Stivers, groped and peered and photographed with his self-lighting camera the surfaces where fingerprints could be seen. Some of these would undoubtedly be those of the dead man. Others Palmer and Nadine Fennell or some of the servants now off duty.

FINGERPRINTS GIRLS

By eliminating these, Stivers hoped to find telltale records left by the murderer. It occurred to him that it would be well, while he was there, to take the prints of the dead man's daughter Azalea and her friend Nadine for reference, while he was studying the other prints in the crime laboratory.

One of the two detectives from headquarters, Dick Fleming, was merciful enough to remove the two girls from the ghastly scene of commotion.

Stivers decided to take their prints at once. He followed the girls into the adjoining living room, and set up shop. They listlessly obeyed his instructions as he spread a smear of special ink over the glass slide on the outside of his kit case.

He ran an ink roller over this, then lightly brushed the fingertips of the girls with the roller, and pressed them successively on little compartments of fingerprint cards. At the bottom of the cards he pressed all their fingers at once. And on each card, of course, he wrote name, and date.

When he left them to return to the scene of the crime they saw him stop short at the door, and heard him exclaim angrily:

"Dam it, Kelso, I told you to keep away from that telephone!" The girls did not hear the colloquy that followed in the other room, and they forgot the incident for the time being as they began to answer the questions asked them by Police Detective Fleming.

Nadine tried to defend Azalea from the inquisition as best she could, until Azalea's benumbed soul came back to itself, and she grew fiery with a demand for revenge upon the murderer.

In her excitement Azalea flung out many references to her fiancé Paul Moody and her father's interference with their plans. Unwittingly she put ideas into Fleming's head that made him think of Paul as the nearest and most likely suspect.

In the meanwhile, Stivers had gone straight to Pete Kelso and shoved him back from the telephone, as he growled:

"I was saving this for special attention. If you've touched it, I'll murder you!"

He did not note that Kelso was pushing back into his pocket the handkerchief he had cautiously drawn out. He did not note how anxiously Kelso watched as Stivers, with exquisite caution, pushed his camera close against the curved sides of the telephone and its base, then pressed the little lever that made the bulbs inside the camera flare and illuminate the surface where Stivers' keen eyes could see the patterns of fingerprints. He gave each about eight seconds' exposure.

To the glowering Kelso he said: "This is the way it was, I guess. The old man tried to telephone for help. He had the handset off the cradle when the killer lifted the big heavy base in both hands and smashed the edges down on the old man's skull."

Stivers laid the handset on the table and studied the base, turned it over and stared, gasped with professional rapture.

"Beauties! The guy who did the killing left prints on the bottom of the base here! All four fingers of both hands! See? His thumbs were on the curved sides. But look at those eight fingers! Perfect! A ticket to the gas chamber for the guy."

"Let me see," said Kelso, reaching eagerly; but Stivers knocked his hand aside, snarling:

"How many times have I got to tell you to keep your dirty paws in your pockets?" He gloated over the lethal prints and found in them a beauty that only a technician can see in something perfect for his needs. He mumbled:

LIFTS PRINTS

"I think I'll just lift these prints. They might get scrambled—especially around meddlers like you."

From two phials, he selected the powder whose color made the best contrast with the under-surface he would photograph. Taking up a delicate brush, he dipped it in the powder, and tapped it lightly so the powder would snow on the surface.

Then he took a still softer brush, a turkey feather, to clear off the excess powder. He worked this daintily round the fingerprints now coming almost alive. He swerved the brush so as to follow the general lines

WINNIPEG (CP) — The flood must be near an end. Winnipeg hotels have returned bath towels to their rooms.

Up to now, guests have been requested not to bathe to avoid clogging overloaded sewers.

Kem-Tone is best

...say the MURRAYS

"I really think Kem-Tone is wonderful," says Miss Rose J. Murray, 265 Germain St., Saint John, N.B., "the way it goes on so smoothly, evenly and easily. And it dries almost immediately."

CHECK THESE ADVANTAGES OF KEM-TONE

1. One gallon does a large room.
2. One coat covers most surfaces, including wallpaper.
3. Latest, smartest colours.
4. Dries in one hour.
5. No disagreeable paint odour.
6. A hard, durable, washable surface.
7. One gallon of Kem-Tone paste makes a gallon and a half of finest wall paint.

The Miracle Wall Paint
Made with OIL — Mixes with Water

Kem-Tone is made with Kem Thermo-Tempered Oil fortified with durable resins. These are scientifically combined with 23 other quality ingredients to give you the Miracle Wall Paint.

"I was amazed — and of course delighted," says Mrs. Edna M. Murray, 205 6th Ave., Saskatoon, Sask., "when I found that only one coat of Kem-Tone was needed to cover our old painted walls — and that only one gallon was needed to do a perfect job on a whole room."

IMPERIAL GALLON
Concentrated Paste Form
ONLY $5.25

One gallon of Kem-Tone paste, when thinned, makes 1½ gallons of Kem-Tone wall paint. This means that your actual cost of Kem-Tone per gallon is only $3.50

TWELVE LOVELY REGULAR COLOURS and KEM-TONE TINTING COLOURS in two-ounce tins which give you an unlimited range of colours to choose from.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Hon. Gordon S. Wismer

ANSWERS
HOTEL MEN'S
STATEMENTSBeer Parlors Would Not
Reduce Drinking in Hotel Bedrooms

It is Mr. Wismer's opinion that Beer Parlors would not discourage drinking in Hotel Bedrooms—that a drink or two in the Beer Parlor, by undermining judgment, encourages drinking and worse in bedrooms and other places.

The Tourist Question

Mr. Wismer does not believe that Beer Parlors are necessary to induce Tourists to come to British Columbia. He says "The best proof is that the tourist traffic into British Columbia is one of the most flourishing anywhere. Tourists, who can obtain all the liquor they desire in the countless bars of the United States, do not come to British Columbia for liquor. We cannot compete with the United States in drink. We can and do compete with it in scenery, in game, and fish and in the beauty of our Province. The Tourist argument does not stand up!"

More Drinking Places Mean More Drinking

Mr. Wismer does not believe in prohibition and has no objection to people taking a drink, but he thinks young people especially are drinking far too much. He states that when there are more drinking places, drinking, especially among young people, will sharply rise.

Alcoholism and Crime

He further points out that the per capita consumption of liquor in the United States, under a system which the Beer Parlor advocates call "Temperance" is rising in a steady and rapid curve. Alcoholism and crime attributable to drink, have created one of the gravest social problems of modern times.

Majority Against Beer Parlors

"I have no reason to believe," says Mr. Wismer, "that people who desire to change our law, with all it involves in the habits of our people, especially our young people, constitute a majority, the huge amount of mail I have received on the subject of late suggests just the contrary."

SAYS BEER NOT TOURIST BAIT

George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, said today he did not believe that beer by the glass would affect the tourist bureau here either one way or the other.

"I don't believe that is what tourists come here for," Mr. Warren said in a GYRO Club address. He pointed out that tourists had easy access to liquor here, whether beer was sold by the glass or not.

STILL ENJOYS PARADE AT 99

Probably the oldest Victorian watching the colorful May 24 parade Wednesday was John Frederick Turner, 1608 Jubilee Avenue, who is less than five months short of the 100-year mark.

Mr. Turner, who will reach the century mark Oct. 11, watched the parade as it passed the corner of Pandora and Cook Streets. Born in Paddington, a district of London, Eng., Mr. Turner walks with two canes. He is still active despite his age.

City Cannot Tax Trust Companies For License Fees

At the present time the city has no right to collect trades licenses from trust companies, A. J. Patton, city solicitor advised Tuesday's City Council meeting, following study of the matter on council's instruction.

With regard to insurance companies, an amendment to the Insurance Act provided they might be taxed for a trades license but under the Municipal Act, it would not give the city permission to exact a trades license under its private acts.

Council empowered Mr. Patton to frame a resolution to enable the city to have the powers it requires with a view to presenting the resolution to the forthcoming Union of B.C. Municipalities convention.

Watson, Field On Arena Commission

Henry Watson, assistant city comptroller-treasurer, and Richard C. Field, were elected to fill the two vacancies on the Memorial Arena Commission.

Others nominated were Len Woodhouse and Stanley Moore. Ald. Frank G. Mulliner moved Mr. Watson's nomination, stating he felt he would be an excellent liaison between the arena commission and the city's arena committee.

Terms of Mr. Field and Mr. Moore expire the end of this month. Mr. Field was re-elected.

Council Approves Bus-Stop Changes

Removal of six bus stops, creation of five new ones and lengthening of two existing stops were approved by City Council Tuesday.

Ald. Waldo Skellings objected, stating too much curb space on city streets was being taken up by bus stops, but Ald. Harold Diggon, chairman of the transportation committee, said the changes were necessary to carry out alterations to meet changes in bus routes.

Formerly of the East Lancashire Regiment, the late Col. Shariand lived in Victoria between 1923 and 1937. He was a member of the Canadian Legion and Union Club while residing here.

Red Shield Seeks $3,000 In Drive Opening Monday

The $30,000 Red Shield Campaign opens throughout the Greater Victoria area Monday morning, Salvation Army officials here announced today.

In operation in other parts of Canada since May 1, the start of the local drive was delayed four weeks in order not to conflict with other appeals being conducted at the same time.

Finances required to commence operations of Sunset Lodge, 952 Arm Street in Esquimalt, constructed by the Salvation Army to provide comfort and a home to aged women, will be taken from the campaign.

Salvation Army canvassers hope to cover the whole residential area of Greater Victoria, but are in need of additional persons to aid in canvassing. Anyone willing to aid in collections is urged to contact campaign headquarters, 757 Pandora Avenue.

The campaign will terminate June 26.

Policy Drafted On Removal Of Trees From Boulevards

A policy on removal and replacement of boulevard trees, drafted by the Town Planning Commission following a meeting with the parks department, was presented to Tuesday's City Council meeting and referred to the lands committee.

It recommended:

1. Trees should not be removed solely on grounds residents in the locality petitioned removal.
2. Overall plan should be adopted on a yearly policy basis and program of removals be submitted annually in advance to Town Planning Commission.
3. Trees on regular boulevards in commercially zoned areas should not be removed without approval of the commission.

The commission recommended that 10 parcels of city-owned land be reserved from sale by the lands department for park and playground space. The matter was referred to the lands committee.

Tuesday from 10 to 11:30 Freeman King will speak at the Scout Hall, Johnson Street, on the chief role of private agencies in recreation. In the afternoon meeting, from 3:30 to 5, Rev. D. Carr will discuss the place of the church and school, also at the Scout Hall. In the evening, from 7:30 to 9:30, Gordon Hartley will speak on programming of playgrounds at Memorial Hall.

All lectures will last for one hour, followed by a discussion period.

Two Men Strongarm Visitor To City

A visitor to this city from Vancouver informed city police at 1 a.m. today that he had been strong-armed by two men in the downtown area and that $100 in cash had been taken from him.

The man, Daniel B. Moraes of 3491 West 8th Street, Vancouver, complained of a wrenched shoulder. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for a doctor's examination.

U.S. Navy Reserve
To Visit Victoria

SEATTLE (BUP)—Three U.S. Navy reserve destroyer escorts will leave Seattle Friday for a week-end training cruise which will take them to Victoria and through the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

USNR officers and men aboard the ships will participate in gunnery practice exercises off Cape Flattery.

The ships will be berthed at H.M.C. dockyard Saturday night.

City To Meet On Offer Of Water Supply

City Council will meet as a committee of the whole to discuss all aspects of a water committee recommendation that the city formally offer to Saanich, for economical consideration, the Elk Lake water supply and necessary adjoining lands.

"It is a valuable asset and belongs to a Greater Victoria scheme," Ald. Harold M. Diggon told Tuesday's council meeting. "There is no need to hurry this."

"We should meet with Saanich, water experts and seek provincial government advice on all ramifications."

Ald. Waldo Skellings urged caution in that the Elk Lake watershed would be a valuable bargaining point, if and when a metropolitan area came into being.

"We shouldn't use this as a bargaining point," countered Ald. Percy H. Scurren, chairman of the water committee, which brought in the recommendation. "Saanich people require the water and we have no right to withhold it when we are told by the water board, we do not need it."

The city accepted the bid of Terminal City Iron Works to supply 12 Ludlow type hydrants for the sum of $1,272.

Roundabout To Be Permanent For $6,400

The fountain roundabout traffic set-up will be permanently installed at a cost of $6,400, City Council decided Tuesday, over protest of Ald. Waldo Skellings who termed it a "retrograde step."

He claimed that when council was discussing a system of light traffic control for the intersection suggested by Washington Highway Commission experts, Aldermen were told the cost would be $12,000 to $15,000, whereas the roundabout system would cost "practically nothing."

Even though the police approved, he felt it had not had a trial during the heavy vehicle traffic of summer. Ald. Percy Scurren contended that the roundabout had proved successful in larger cities with a greater traffic problem.

Ald. J. D. Hunter and Mayor Percy George both stated they did not recall information that the roundabout would cost next to nothing.

Anti-Red Bill Passes

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—A government bill to outlaw the Communist Party in Australia passed all stages in the House of Representatives Tuesday. It now goes to the Labor-controlled Senate. Labor has agreed in principle to the bill, but has said it will try to amend it.

New Hope Seen In Party Convention

Calling of a party convention at Vancouver in the fall has resulted in a revival of spirit in the forces of the Young Progressive Conservative Association.

This was reported today by A. L. Bewley, provincial president, who recently toured the interior with Don Hueston, executive secretary of the Canadian association, and Frank Barker, federal organizer for B.C.

"We had an exceptional reception everywhere we went, and the coming convention has given to Progressive Conservatives a new outlook and a new hope," the provincial president said.

Mr. Bewley and Mr. Barker are leaving Vancouver shortly for a tour of the northern area of the province. They plan on covering the whole of the province this summer organizing Young Progressive Conservative Association branches.

By-law To Legalize Passing On Right

A by-law to permit motorists legally to pass each other on the right hand side of the road will be prepared by the city solicitor, City Council ruled at its meeting Tuesday.

In a letter, C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, advised motorists should be able to pass on the right when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, on an unobstructed street which room for two or more lines of traffic in each direction: on a one-way street wide enough to permit movement of two lines of traffic in one direction.

88th Battalion Holds Reunion

The 24th annual reunion of the 88th Battalion, C.E.F., better known as the Victoria Fusiliers, was held Wednesday night at Loughheed's Banquet Club.

Much talk about "how we won the war" was heard as the "old sweats" reminisced about the battles of Ypres, Mons, Amiens and many others.

The reunion was concluded by a parade to the Cenotaph where a wreath was laid. W. I. Land spoke briefly. Drummer was G. A. Dyson and bugler, Sgt. Bert Drysdale.

City Hospitals Ready For New Wonder Drug

Victoria's two hospitals are fully equipped to handle the new wonder drug for arthritis sufferers, cortisone, when it arrives here.

Superintendent of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Dr. J. L. M. Anderson, said that while the announcement that the new drug would be in the city "within the next few weeks" was news to him, it would be highly welcomed.

The announcement, of eastern origin, reportedly from Dr. Marvin Darach, director of research in Canada for Merck and Company, sole manufacturers of the drug in North America, gave no further details other than it would be available soon.

"We have the staff and all facilities available to handle cortisone," Dr. Anderson said. "It takes a great deal of laboratory work to control it."

According to Dr. D. B. Roxburgh, pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital, a special committee had been formed to handle the drug.

City Protesting Over Royal Roads

A formal protest will go to Ottawa from City Council on the lack of landscaping and foliage to hide what some aldermen termed "architectural atrocities" on the main highway at Royal Roads.

Ald. Harold M. Diggon raised the subject at City Council meeting Tuesday, stating the federal housing project for naval personnel was an eyesore. He stressed that he was not complaining about the fact houses were built but the architecture obviously decided upon in eastern Canada, with no thought of the western setting, was on eyesore to all passers-by.

Dripping With Fox

THIS is the last story, that out I will whack, 'cause there's no more words, that rhyme with Seattle. And I wouldn't this metre attempt to botch, had it not been for that lady, dripping with fox. Who was in our store on Saturday, buying some chrome of silver grey. "Your furs," I remarked, as she signed her cheque, "are the same as the G.F. had around her neck." When down to Seattle, we took a trip, they too were black, with a silver tip. They belonged to my sister, and she insisted, the G.F. said "No," but Peggy persisted. "They look lo-ve-ly on you," said this go-between, "especially with that new, white gabardine." Really, I'd rather not," the G.F. bleated, but by other relations she was finally defeated. Now at slinging furs on, she was a greenhorn, but she walked on the boat, to the manner born. And I caught her peeking at the top of the stair, at her careless reflection in the mirror there. "Humph," I remarked, "with THAT new pose, you look like you've been enior, under your nose." And then she laughed, as around she spun, "silly," she said, "I was just having fun. With all this borrowed silver booty, I might as well TRY . . . & look a little snooty. But Honest," she said, stroking the slings, "I didn't want to bring the d . . . things. I'll only worry all the time. I just hate wearing things that aren't mine. Just suppose I lose 'em (but I sed oh pooh), "THAT," she continued, "a fine how-do-you-do? See, right off the bat, they are a flop, shall I wear them into, the coffee shop?" "In this stateroom," I answered, "they're as safe as can be, and besides in my pocket, I'll have the key." This Chesterfield too, has a snooty look, they threw everything at it, in the book. Two pieces in silver the other in flame, to delight the heart of any dame. But she would never leave them, a constant fuss, then one nite in Seattle, we got on a bus. And somehow or other on the tail I sat, as we rubber-necked out the window, & had a chick-chat. Then she suddenly jumped up, on her feet. "I'm sure," she cried, "this is our street." The strain was too much, on the tail of the fur, & that's how this accident did occur. In my pocket I stuffed the long tail, I tried to console, but to no avail. "I just KNEW it," she repeated, "I told you so, but I never expected this kind of blow." "Ah . . . let's forget it," I sed, to her drooping chin, "we can fix it back on, with a safety-pin. Or find a furrier, tomorrow en route, but without the tail, it looks kinda cute." "IT DOES NOT, you know it looks silly, I only wish tonight wasn't so chilly. Or I could carry the rest of it, on my arm, but it's warmth I need, to heck with the charm." "Oh, dear," said this client, "tell me Mister, did U get the furs home?" "Oh . . . yes," I replied, "but you know what I think, that fox is alive, 'cause I saw him wink. Maybe HE got skinned, but OURS the death-watch, & this ends the "tail" of that SLY OLD FOX.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"Nothing helps at all," said Hard Luck Joe. "The better I play, the worse the breaks are. Now, just look at the beautiful way I played this hand."

Joe is a persuasive fellow, so I looked at the hand he was showing me.

"The opening lead was the queen of diamonds," continued Joe. "I won in the dummy with the king of diamonds, and then what do you think I played next?"

"If you made the right play," I said, trying to keep the note of doubt out of my voice, "you laid down the ace of trumps."

"Of course I did just that," said Joe triumphantly. "I told you I made the right play on this hand. What I did was to lay down the ace of trumps and then lead the low trump from dummy."

This was perfectly correct. It cost nothing to give up the trump finesse, since if West were able to win the second round of spades the contract could not be defeated. By that time East would surely be out of trumps, dummy's high diamond would therefore be quite safe.

"As you can see," said Joe sadly, "the right play didn't help. East took the king of spades and returned a heart." That was the end. No matter how I sweated, I was bound to go down."

DUG OWN PIT

As usual, Joe had dug the pit for himself. Do you see in what way he was responsible for his own hard luck?

Joe played the hand well enough, but it was his own fault that he wound up a loser on the hand. There was no reason in the world for him to tamper with his partner's double of three diamonds.

Normal good defence would have held West to six tricks. North and South would therefore have collected 500 points. This would have been a lot better than losing 100 points.

Many players adopt Joe's attitude when they have won the first game of the rubber. They hate to double the opponents. The real expert collects any sizeable penalty with satisfaction, knowing that he may also get the rubber later on.

Manitoba Commended For Great Flood Battle

Only Mistake Was Govt. Did Not Tell Rest Of Country About It, Says Garson

OTTAWA (CP)—The part the Manitoba government played in meeting the Red River flood disaster was both criticized and defended in the Commons Wednesday.

Rallying to its defence, Justice Minister Garson, former Manitoba Premier, told the chamber the provincial government had been derelict in only one important aspect—failure to tell the people of the job it was doing.

Answering criticism from Opposition members, he reviewed steps that had been taken to prepare for the emergency. Touching briefly on the question of federal financial aid, he said he did not know yet what the federal government would contribute.

He could not, he said, say whether it would be more or less than 75 per cent of the damage.

He spoke after Arthur Ross (P.C.-Souris, Man.) had charged that the only agency which had "failed, and failed miserably" in the emergency had been the provincial government and Premier Campbell.

Alistair Stewart (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North) said the government had paid no heed to early warnings of danger of flooding.

William Bryce (C.C.F.-Selkirk, Man.) suggested the federal government make an immediate grant of $10,000,000 to help the flood victims and give them encouragement.

Floating Log Saves Two Men

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A floating log and a high tide saved two men from drowning when their car plunged into the Fraser River Wednesday.

John Reisinger and Danny Zechel were driving along South Dike Road when their car struck a soft shoulder and careened off the dike. The vehicle landed right side up, the front wheels resting on a log. The rear of the car was submerged in six feet of water. The two men escaped through a front door. Neither was injured.
